NEW BATTLES LIKELY IN MANCHURIA

New York Abandons Welcome Plans in Fear of Anti-Fascist Riots

THREATS ARE VOICED

Italian Statesman to Board Train for Capital Shortly After Arrival

New York—(AP)—Foreign Minister Dino Grandi will be rushed through New York in a closed car under heavy police guard when he arrives from Italy next Monday for conferences with President Hoover.

State department officials conferred today with Major William F. Deegan, chairman of the mayor's committee for reception of distinguished guests and it was learned the prepared city reception was definitely abandoned.

The present plan calls for Grandi to be brought to a Hudson river pier on the liner, not being taken off at Quarantine as is usual for officials of such high rank. A closed car will be waiting at the pier and with heavy police guard the Italian foreign minister, against whose presence here anti-Fascist organizations have threatened to stage demonstrations, will be rushed directly to the Pennsylvania station to entrain for Washington.

A welcome similar to that recently accorded Premier Pierre Laval of France was planned, with a ride down the bay in the Macom, a triumphal procession up Broadway, and a public reception at city hall.

While one group of Italian-Americans was eager to give Minister Grandi the kind of a welcome that would remind him of that day when the black shirts under his command marched into Rome, overthrew a tottering government and put Mussolini in power, another group, vigorously opposed to the Fascist regime in its native land, was preparing hostile demonstrations.

GREEN BAY WINS ON DAMAGE SUIT APPEAL

Madison—(AP)—The city of Green Bay won in the state supreme court today in its appeal from a circuit court verdict holding it responsible for an incline on a sidewalk where Harry Thiele, 73-year-old carriage trimmer, slipped and fell. Thiele won an award of $2,500 plus $125.66 in costs for personal injuries which was reversed by the high court with orders that the case be dismissed.

The testimony showed that the garage entrance of the Snavley Yellow Cab company on Adams-st in Green Bay had an incline of 10 to 12 inches in a distance of three feet. Thiele fell on the ice covered incline Feb. 4, 1930, as he was coming out of the garage, broke his leg and sprained an ankle.

In bringing suit against the city he also made the cab company a codefendant but the company pleaded it was not responsible and was given a verdict of $32.69 against the city for costs incurred in the litigation. The city appealed to the supreme court.

EXPECT MRS. CARAWAY TO SEEK SENATE SEAT

Jonesboro, Ark. —(AP)—The widow of Thaddeus H. Caraway today appeared the probable choice to fill his unexpired term in the United States senate after an announcement by Mayor H. J. Bosler that she would accept the nomination if it were profered.

Mayor Bosler made the announcement as a friend of the family and a member of the state democratic central committee shortly after the junior Arkansas senator was buried in a little cemetery here yesterday. Several political leaders have privately expressed approval of Mrs Caraway's selection.

British King Opens New Parliament

PRINCE NICHOLAS

Prince Defies Brother and Compels Mayor of Town to Perform Ceremony

Budapest, Hungary—(AP)—The morganatic marriage of Prince Nicholas of Rumania with Mme. Jana Lucia Deletj, in a dramatic elopement yesterday despite King Carol's stern disapproval of the union, had royal circles buzzing with excited comment today.

Prince Nicholas, fascinated by the charms of the brunet beauty, ignored his elder brother's refusal to sanction the marriage, leaped into his racing car and made a wild dash to Tohan and compelled the mayor of that town to perform the ceremony.

With determination similar to King Carol's where the auburn haired Mme Magda Lupescu was concerned, the 28-year-old prince refused to let his love for Mme. Deletj be thwarted by the arguments of the king.

So violent was the king's wrath at his younger brother's defiance of his counsel that he ordered all records of the ceremony to be destroyed and authorized the Bucharest government to issue a flat denial that the marriage had taken place.

The mayor of Tohan, a small town near Buzeu, knowing that he had incurred sharp criticism for performing the ceremony without the sanction of the king, excused himself by declaring he knew no other course to follow when the determined prince rode up to his home in a cloud of dust and ordered to perform the ceremony.

Shaken by the honor which had so unceremoniously been thrust upon him, the mayor finally recovered sufficiently to seize telephone and convey the new to Budapest.

What King Carol would do with his defiant young brother, was a matter of lively speculation today. There seemed little that he could do inasmuch as the civil ceremony uniting the prince and Mme. Deletj was apparently binding.

His disapproval of the union was interpreted in some circles as an indication he had undergone a decided change of viewpoint since he once renounced his right to the Rumanian throne rather than give up the red haired Mme. Lupescu, that he had definitely given up any intention he might have had of marrying her and that if he did marry it would be with the princess of some ruling house.

SNOWS DAMAGE CROPS

Buenos Aires—(AP)—Crops were severely damaged by belated snows and a heavy frost which caught growers unawares yesterday.

DEMOCRATS TO PUSH PLANS IN CONGRESS

Garner States They Will Present Own Program in December

Washington — (AP) — Representative Garner said today the Democrats would have a full legislative program adequate to meet the situation ready to present to the coming congress.

The Democratic house chieftain made the statement in a conference with newspapermen shortly after his arrival today from his home at Uvalde, Texas.

He declined to disclose the nature of the program and added:

"I have absolutely nothing to say on public questions at this time."

Asked whether the Democrats would organize the house, Garner said that matter still "is in the lap of the gods."

He added that until the house meets Dec. 7 it could not be determined which party would have the most votes on the floor.

"I do believe," Garner said, "that we Democrats are in a better position to organize than the Republicans. Our organization is better congealed and has shown greater harmony than exists in the Republican organization."

Asked whether the Democrats might allow the Republicans to organize, Garner asserted that "when responsibility comes to the Democrats we should accept it and we will."

MACHINE GUN INVENTOR DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Hoboken, N. J.—(AP)—Col. Isaac N. Lewis, 73, inventor of the Lewis machine gun which was widely used by the allied forces during the World war, died of a heart attack last night while enroute from his New York office to his home in Montclair, N. J.

While waiting for his train, Colonel Lewis stepped into a drugstore and was talking to a friend when he collapsed. He had been suffering from heart trouble for some time.

During the World war more than [illegible] Lewis machine guns were used by the allied armies. He received millions of dollars in royalties for its use.

Colonel Lewis was graduated from West Point in 1884. Early in his military career he invented a depression range finder which was adopted by the army as basis for the system of artillery fire control in all American coast defenses.

CHEESEMAKERS' BODY ASKS HILL TO RESIGN

Beaver Dam — (AP) — Accusing Charles L. Hill, chairman of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture and Markets, of activity in promoting the National Cheese Producers federation, the Southeastern Wisconsin Cheesemakers association has passed a resolution requesting his resignation.

The group went on record approving continuance and improvement of the Plymouth Cheese Exchange and the Farmers Call Board and opposing the federation because "its failure to pay market prices for cheese brings about a disrupted influence on the cheese industry."

ARCHBISHOP NAMED

FORMER CUSTODIAN OF FAMOUS EAGLE DIES AT EAU CLAIRE

Eau Claire —(AP)— Daniel McCann, many years the custodian of Old Abe, celebrated eagle which went to the Civil war as the mascot of Company C, Eighth Wisconsin volunteers, is dead.

McCann's father in 1861 bought the eagle from an Indian. For a time it remained at the McCann home, where Daniel cared for it. McCann often exhibited with pride a scar where Old Abe once bit him.

Twenty years later, Old Abe, on displayed at the state capitol in Madison was injured when fire swept a portion of the building. He died soon after the fire. The bird was mounted and again displayed in the building. In 1904, another fire destroyed all of Old Abe but a few tail feathers. There is now a bronze monument in Wisconsin in memory of the eagle.

OBEY MANDATE OF PEOPLE, HE URGES HOUSES

Commons Open Session—Abandonment of Free Trade Policy Probable

London —(AP)—Amid the pomp and glitter of tradition King George V, wearing the crown of empire and ermine robes over the scarlet uniform of a field marshal, today opened the new national parliament whose task is to rescue the nation from its financial and industrial crisis.

Speaking from the great golden throne in the house of lords his majesty bade the new government, headed once more by Ramsay MacDonald, godspeed in its undertakings.

"My people have given you an emphatic mandate," he said in a voice which rang clearly through the chamber "and we expect you to achieve success."

This afternoon the house of commons will begin a session which probably will bulk large in England's history. It is not unlikely that it will forsake the British policy of free trade and join the ranks of the protective tariff states.

The monarch laid special emphasis upon the benefits which he believes may be produced by next year's disarmament conference.

"My government intends to pursue the policy of peace and goodwill," he said. "They will continue their active interest in the work of the league of nations, and they will give close attention to preparations for the approaching disarmament conference, a successful result of which would produce great and universal benefit."

Other Royalty Present

Queen Mary, wearing a crown and magnificent robes, sat on his left. On the king's right was the prince of Wales, in scarlet and ermine. Light shone from the lofty ceiling upon a blaze of jewels worn by the wives of the peers. They sat on either side of the house and the lords were packed closely in the center.

The king and queen rode to Westminster in state, cheered by thousands of their subjects as their golden coach rolled behind an impressive escort of household cavalry from Buckingham palace to the houses of parliament.

A brilliant sun came out as the procession started, but before their majesties reached Westminster rain was spattering over the crowd.

The king, bareheaded and wearing a heavy overcoat, leaned forward to bow and smile through the windows of the ancient coach as six horses drew it down the spacious mall. On his right the queen smiled and waved at the throng. Before their carriage another escort of horse guards convoyed the regal crown from St. James palace.

In the lord's chamber the black and white of evening dress worn by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes was in striking contrast to the brilliant uniforms of the rest of the diplomatic corps. From the galleries distinguished visitors looked down, many of them Indian potentates here for the round table conference.

ARSON CASE MAY BE GIVEN TO JURY TODAY

Fond du Lac —(AP)— The case of Steve Rickart, accused of arson as a result of the burning of his clothing store here Aug. 11, is expected to reach the jury today.

The district attorney introduced evidence to indicate the insurance exceeded the value of the store. Firemen said the building apparently flamed throughout at once at the time of the fire.

Solons Exceeded Power In Reinstating Cannon, Claim

Madison—(AP)—The judicial committee of the Wisconsin Bar association today filed a brief with the supreme court contending that the 1931 legislature exceeded its powers by reinstating Raymond J. Cannon, Milwaukee, as a practicing attorney.

Cannon was disbarred by the supreme court more than two years ago for professional misconduct and the last legislature passed a bill which Governor LaFollette signed which readmitted him to the Wisconsin bar.

Last June when Cannon petitioned the supreme court for reinstatement the court ordered the board of bar examiners to investigate charges he made during two political campaigns. The brief filed today was written by attorneys as "friends of the court" to assist in the final decision.

The judicial committee contended that the legislature invaded the judiciary field by enacting the law reinstating Cannon. Disbarment and reinstatement of an attorney is purely a judicial function, the committee said.

The committee also said no constitutional authority is necessary for the supreme court to disbar an attorney, that the law seeking to reinstate Cannon is discriminatory because it applies to only one person and that any attempt to annul a judgment of the supreme court by the legislature is "a usurpation of judicial power and violates the constitutional provision of the separateness of legislative and judicial functions."

"The act of the 1931 legislature is clearly discriminatory and hence invalid," the brief said. "It must be borne in mind that the petitioner has by the filing of petition recognized that the court has had and has jurisdiction of the case and that it is an action still pending in the court as to the question of his reinstatement to the practice of law."

Joseph Koffend, Sr., 85, pioneer resident and Appleton's oldest insurance man, died Tuesday morning at his home on North-st. Mr. Koffend, who came to Appleton when he was nine years of age, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his entrance into the insurance business last year. He was the last of Appleton's first volunteer fire company, having been a torch boy as early as 1863.

Give Up Hunt For 11 Adrift On Open Sea

Miami, Fla. —(AP)—Tropical Radio station here was informed that the steamers Costa Rica and Geisha, cruising the Caribean sea near Cartagena in a search for 11 castaways, were forced by inclement weather early today to halt their search. They stood by to resume as sooh as possible.

The Costa Rica said no trace of the shipwrecked group was found. Captain Frank Ormsbee, airplane pilot, said he saw the men adrift on a lifeboat and life raft yesterday afternoon, with seas running high in face of a 25-mile wind that prevented his landing to effect a rescue.

The Costa Rica and the Geisha went last night to the approximate location given by Captain Ormsbee but both vessels were hampered by heavy winds and rainfall.

Ormsbee's message was sent to the flying company's Cristobal base and a report later was relayed here. He said the lifeboat carried ten men while one clung to the raft. Wreckage, including many gasoline drums, floated about them.

HONDURAS TOWN WIPED OUT IN SEVERE STORM

Tegucigalpa, Honduras —(AP)—The town of Lamasica has been wiped out by a furious storm which blew down every dwelling, ripped up the railroad track and destroyed telegraph lines. It is feared many of the residents were drowned.

New York —(AP)— Gales and head seas on the north Atlantic played havoc today with the schedules of trans-Atlantic liners.

Three liners, due to dock today and tomorrow, probably will not arrive until Thursday. The Ile de France may reach here late tomorrow but probably not until Thursday. The Aquitania will reach Sandy Hook Thursday, a day late, and the President Fillmore will be 36 hours late when she arrives at noon tomorrow.

Four vessels, all due yesterday arrived today. They were the Belgenland, Dresden, American Farmer and Vulcania.

RESOLUTION DEMANDS BISHOP'S RESIGNATION

Columbus, Ga.—(AP)—A resolution demanding resignation of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., has been adopted by the board of stewards of St. Paul Methodist Episcopal church, South.

The resolution adopted unanimously last night also condemned the practice of bishops, ministers of the gospel, presiding elders or other church officials engaging in political controversies and political campaigns as such officials."

The board said it was "apprehensive of the future of the Methodist church and the support of the laymen should the church repeat its [illegible] of 1928."

SIX PERSONS NABBED IN KIDNAPING CASE

St. Louis—(AP)—Five men and a woman were arrested today in connection with the kidnaping of Alexander Berg, wealthy fur executive who was abducted early last Friday evening and is still missing. Police did not disclose their names, nor what evidence they have.

J. KOFFEND, SR., ILL FEW DAYS, DIES AT HOME

Dean of Appleton Insurance Men Stricken Last Friday

Joseph Koffend, Sr., 85, dean of insurance men in Appleton, died at his home, 222 E. North-st, Tuesday morning. He had been ill since Friday.

Mr. Koffend had been in the insurance business in Appleton for the past 51 years, entering that work in 1880 after working for 17 years for A. Galpin and Sons. He served the city as treasurer from April, 1876 to April, 1883, and as a member of the school board of district No. 2 and the board of education for 25 years. With the exception of nine years, he was on the school board from 1878 to 1912. At one time he was secretary and treasurer of the Appleton Electric Street Railway company, the first electric street railway operated for commercial purposes in the United States.

The death of Mr. Koffend marks the passing of Appleton's first volunteer fire company. With two others, he joined the first fire company in 1863 as a torch boy, his work involving lighting the way to fires at night. After several years of service he was elected assistant chief of the two volunteer companies.

Born In Austria

Born in Austria on May 17, 1846, Mr. Koffend came to Appleton on Sept. 3, 1855. He was educated in Second ward schools. On Sept. 7, 1875, he was married to Julia [illegible]feld, who preceded him in death. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and Elks lodges. Survivors are one son, Joseph, Jr., who has been associated with his father in the insurance business in this city; three daughters, Emma, Litta and Elsie, at home; four grandchildren; one brother, George of Minneapolis, and one sister, Mrs. Barbara [illegible], Appleton.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the home, with Dr. H. E. Peabody of the Congregational church in charge. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. The body will be taken from the Brettschneider Funeral home to the residence at noon Wednesday.

FREEDOM REFUSED TO CONVICT IN MICHIGAN

Lansing, Mich. — (AP)—A petition seeking the release of Fred Palm, once committed to state prison for life as a fourth offender—the fourth conviction being for the possession of a pint of gin—was refused by the state supreme court today.

The court ruled he must serve from 7½ to 15 years to which former Gov. Fred W. Green commuted his sentence.

The case was brought to the state supreme court by A. Stanley C[illegible]land of Buffalo, representing a [illegible] organization.

Sentence Of Robber Gets Court's O. K.

Stanley Ford Must Serve 25 to 40 Years in Prison, Tribunal Rules

Madison—(AP)—Stanley Ford, accused Chicago bank robber must serve the sentence of 25 to 40 years in the state prison at Waupun imposed on him for his part in the $15,000 holdup of the Mt. Horeb bank on Oct. 2[illegible], 1930. The state supreme court ruled today.

The high tribunal affirmed his conviction in the court of Superior Judge S. B. Schein of Dane-co.

Ford who was arrested at Chicago 11 days after the robbery in which three bandits took part denied that he was implicated but officials traced to him a large number of stocks and bonds and found that he had cashed at the Webster hotel in Chicago some travelers checks alleged to have been stolen from the Mt. Horeb bank.

Ford was arrested in Chicago in company with a companion, Francis Farley. In his overcoat pocket were found $20,000 in bonds.

Detective William H. Smith, who searched his apartment, said he found a newspaper package containing various stocks and bonds and also discovered in a wardrobe trunk the revolvers and $5 in pennies.

Ford claimed that securities had been given to him by a friend.

He denied the testimony of Charles L. O'Brien, room clerk, at the Webster hotel that he was the man who cashed the stolen travelers checks.

Experts were introduced in an effort to show that the signatures on the checks did not correspond with Ford's handwriting but the state, backed by O'Brien's testimony persisted in the identification and won the conviction.

OUTLINE PROPOSALS FOR SPECIAL TERM

Secret Meeting Held by Governor, Council and Committee Heads

Madison — (AP)— Governor LaFollette, members of his executive council and the heads of the interim committees on unemployment and banking were meeting in secret session at the capitol today to whip into shape recommendations that will be made to the special session of the legislature.

Information now coming from the governor's office is that the lawmakers will be convened the last week of the month, probably Nov. 24 and if this materializes they will be here during Thanksgiving week.

Among the important pronouncements to be made before the session starts are:

The amount of the local public works program for unemployment relief which the governor [illegible] methods of raising revenues for this program and for any direct [illegible] of aid to local communities, recommendations concerning unemployment insurance, and proposals for new legislation to strengthen the [illegible].

The unemployment committee also was meeting at the capitol today to complete its work, over which there has been some disagreement among the members, particularly on the form of unemployment insurance and the amount of public works [illegible].

TIENTSIN AND NONNI RIVER DANGER SPOTS

EVACUATE JAP WOMEN

If League Fails to Settle Dispute China Will Build Up Defense

Peiping—(AP)—Messages from Harbin today reported that Japanese troops had withdrawn seven miles south of the Nonni river bridge where they were said to be massing for a fresh advance for Tsitsihar.

Paris—(AP)—If the league of nations fails to settle the Manchurian dispute China will build up her national defenses to a point strong enough to withstand "external aggression," Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese member of the league of nations council, told the league tonight.

Harbin, Manchuria— (AP)— Japanese authorities here today ordered all Japanese women and children at Manchuli and Hailar to come to Harbin for safety because of increasing Chinese animosity. Both these towns are in the north not far from the Siberian border, where anti-Japanese sentiment has been growing.

Washington—(AP)—President Hoover went over latest developments in the Manchurian situation with his cabinet today, but no definite word came of what course this government is planning.

While the president remained silent and cabinet members were reticent to discuss the situation, it was said in an official quarter that reports from Japan and China were brighter.

There was no explanation of what accounted for a brighter outlook.

Meanwhile a memorandum from the Japanese government denying any intention of waging aggressive war in Manchuria was received at the Japanese embassy for presentation to Secretary Stimson by Ambassador Debuchi.

The developing situation set league of nations circles at Geneva agog with interest and expectancy and there was a considerable difference of opinion among speculators about whether a state of war exists or not. Reports that General Mah had issued a war declaration were not generally believed and legal experts insisted that the league could not recognize a war declared by a general in the field. There was a growing number of practically-disposed persons, however, who insisted that when soldiers fight and kill each other it's war, declaration or no declaration.

The Japanese delegation at Paris issued a statement yesterday saying the fighting at Tientsin was entirely between Chinese police and bandits, although it added several Japanese were killed.

The fighting started in the Chinese quarter, the statement said, and a rumor was spread attributing it to Japanese influence, but the rumor was promptly denied by Japanese authorities through the French consul.

The league of nations council has been called to meet at Paris Nov. 16 to continue its efforts to bring about peace and a proposal for a diplomatic and economic boycott of Japan is expected unless she agrees to withdraw her troops.

At Tokio it was said today the withdrawal of the troops from the Nonni river sector was planned to begin Nov. 1[illegible] but that the fighting [illegible] bridge and the troops might have to remain several weeks longer.

Deny War Report

Officials dispatches from Manchuria received at Tokio denied that General Mah had declared war and also [illegible] he had bombarded the Japanese troops at Tahsing, as was reported last night. The situation was quiet, the dispatches said, although there was some apprehension over the intentions of General Mah, [illegible] a report that he telegraphed General Chang Hsueh Liang, former governor general, urging him to mobilize troops at Kirin to reenforce the Heilungkiang army against further Japanese attacks.

In authoritative circles at Tokio it was said the opposition Chinese government at Canton had made plans for dismantling the Manchurian government and creating a model state there. The plan, it was said, contemplated the removal of the war lords and substitution of a high commissioner. Under this proposed arrangement Japanese troops would be permitted to remain in Manchuria and Japan was said to look upon this plan with favor.

By The Associated Press

Booming guns and shifting soldiery in Manchuria gave some promise of new battles today, at the Nonni river bridgehead and at Tientsin, although Tokio reported the situation was "quiet but apprehensive."

Reports to two London newspapers said Japan had demanded the surrender of Tsitsihar by the Chi-

Nebraska Withholds Action On Offer Made By "Gus" Winkler

HINT SUSPECT IS NEEDED FOR CAPONE'S WORK

Believed Groomed to Take Helm While Al Serves Prison Sentence

Chicago —(AP)— The story of a hunt for the $2,500,000 loot taken in the greatest bank robbery of all time, and of a desperate bargain driven by a gangster for his freedom was told today.

It begins with the sacking of the Lincoln National Bank and Trust company in the Nebraska capital Sept. 17, 1930, and the story is still unfinished. Perhaps it is told too soon. For Nebraska has not yet accepted the bid of "Gus" Winkler pal of the Capones and Fred Burke to purchase his immunity from prosecution with the return of all but a pittance of the stolen bonds. And, with the telling before the bargain is struck, those who treated with the emissaries of this highly organized bank looting syndicate wonder how safe are their lives and the lives of Winkler and his confederates.

Upon Max Towle, county attorney at Lincoln, the bankers and Attorney General C. A. Sorenson rests the responsibility for taking or leaving Winkler's tender.

Operatives of the "Secret Six," crime fighting body set up by Chicago businessmen, and of the Illinois Bankers association, traced the devious paths the year's investigation has followed. Once it led to a little cottage rendezvous near Benton Harbor, Mich., where the Capones and Winkler and Phil D'Andrea—the gun-bearing body servant of "Scarface Al" who is under six months sentence for contempt of federal court—had their business conferences. In front of the cottage the public streets was barred to public traffic by the gangsters' blockade; gunners stood guard.

Arranged for Bond

Once it led to the Lexington hotel in Chicago, when the Capone men recently decamped. There Phil D'Andrea received Winkler's telegram from the Lincoln jail, and soon D'Andrea had arranged $100,000 cash bond for the release of "Gus."

The investigators found traces of international alliances among the bank robbers, and counted up a total of around $5,000,000 taken in 25 major robberies since 1925 by these allies—the Burke-Winkler gangs, the Sheltons of southern Illinois, Fitzgerald of Minneapolis, and, more remotely related, the Fleagles of Colorado. Here and there the investigators discerned traces of interrelations of these gangs, and blamed the famous Denver mint raid on one affiliated band.

Again and again the trail led to the Capone headquarters as when Winkler in the Lincoln cell said to an Illinois bank representative: "Make the bond as high as you like. Make it $500,000 if you want to, I'll get out. The 'big boy' is back of me."

The detectives wonder whether it is not worth much to the Capones, as they trundle off to prison, to have Gus free to come back and take the helm.

Hints at Suicide

It was worth $100,000 bond to get him out, worth the $75,000 more he has offered to pay the unnamed bandits who hold the stolen Lincoln bonds without which the bank and its six correspondents are in danger. Winkler protests his innocence of the Lincoln and the Plano, Ill., "jobs," claims he can prove an alibi by documentary evidence in New York, but fears a Lincoln jury will railroad him to the penitentiary. And he told the Secret Six he would die by his own hand first. He makes the apparently magnanimous offer to buy back the Lincoln loot because he wants to be "washed up," prove his innocence, prove he has been mistaken for a double: Tom Slattery, killed in a holdup in Maryland last April 9. Secret Six agents agree Slattery was almost his twin.

For seven months after the seven machine gunners surrounded the bank and held police at bay, speeding away with $2,500,000 in their car while a siren shrieked warning to traffic, there were no arrests and no identifications.

Suspects Captured

Simultaneously, last April, Illinois state highway police and Secret Six operatives got wind that their quarry was in St. Louis. They joined forces and with Illinois and Nebraska bank agents rounded up three suspects of whom Thomas Patrick Connors has been sentenced to 25 years in prison. Howard Lee has been convicted but not yet sentenced, and Jack Britt has just been tried with a jury disagreeing.

Then Winkler was caught after an automobile accident at Benton Harbor in which he suffered a fractured skull and lost one eye.

Sergeant Roy Steffens of the Secret Six spent hours with him in the hospital. Winkler claimed "absolute innocence" of the robbery but did know something about the bonds. Steffen convinced him if he could get the bonds back he might save 18,000 to 20,000 Nebraska bank depositors and redeem himself in the eyes of that state. County Attorney Towle, Steffens said, approved his bargaining with Winkler. The gangster got out on his $100,000 bond.

The bank's loss, Steffens said today, would then be reduced to a mere $10,000 or $12,000, if the offer is accepted.

Sunday night was to have been the deadline, but the Secret Six still awaited word from the Lincoln officers today.

Parents Face Cruelty Charge

New Cruelty Case Against 2 At Capital

Washington—(AP)—Cruelty toward two children instead of one may be charged to Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Riley, already arrested for locking 13-year-old Edith in a closet for four years.

Francis, who indirectly won release for his younger sister from her semi-captivity, has been taken temporarily from his father and stepmother.

The father is in jail because he could not make $2,500 bond pending action by the grand jury on Edith's case. Mrs. Riley made bond in the same amount.

Malcom Annadale, maternal uncle of the children, expects charges in connection with treatment given 15-year-old Francis also to be laid before the grand jury. The uncle has asked for custody of both children, but Judge Kathryn Sellers has postponed decision until tomorrow.

In the meantime she turned the boy over to the board of public welfare. It was he who told a cousin that Edith has been locked in a windowless closet for years. Investigation by relatives of their dead mother brought police station.

At a hospital, the grave-faced little girl is showing a steady reaction to kind treatment. A gift of a big doll brought the first open laugh from her, and nurses hold she has shown no specific signs of mental subnormality.

The parents have contended she was locked up because of imbecility.

P. T. A. SELECTS NINE COMMITTEES

More Than 250 Parents Attend "Go to School Night" Program

Nine committees were appointed for the year at the first meeting of the Roosevelt Parent-Teacher association Monday night at Roosevelt junior high school. More than 250 parents attended the "Go to School Night" program, during which parents attended all the class of their children in a miniature school day of ten minute classes.

Richard Watson will head the committee on accident prevention and safety, which also includes Emil Zuss and Joseph Albert. The citizenship committee consists of J. P. Frank, chairman, Dr. Charles Briggs and Edward Young; finance committee, A. C. Ecker, chairman, A. E. Dettman and Edgar Milhaupt; health committee, C. K. Boyer, chairman, Henry Marty and A. L. Jacobson; membership and attendance, Harry Pride, chairman, the Rev. D. E Bosserman, Mrs. Lacy Horton, Mrs. Thomas Hughes and Mrs. Charles Bohl; music committee, Mrs. George Buesing, chairman, W. F. SCHNEIDER SEES POSSIBLE CHANGE IN PROHIBITION LAW

Congressman Will Leave in Few Days to Attend Congressional Session

The ever-increasing demand from an outraged public may force the next Congress to take a stand on modification of the Volstead act when it meets next month, according to Congressman George J. Schneider, Appleton. Congressman Schneider will leave in a few days for Washington to attend the session.

Congressman Schneider said he believed the prohibition question was the deciding factor in the Democratic victories in the recent elections, although they were not the sole reason for the swing away from the present administration.

While making it clear that he could not speak for the progressive legislators as a whole, Mr. Schneider outlined the policies that will be submitted to all members of the anti-administration faction at a conference to be held in Washington in the near future.

Seek Relief Aid

"Several measures will be advocated by progressives in the seventy-second congress," Mr. Schneider said. "First of all, they will advocate an appropriation for unemployment relief, providing sufficient funds as federal aid to match the appropriations of the states, and in turn those of the cities, villages, counties and towns.

"The burden of unemployment relief is too heavy for these communities to carry without federal aid," he said. "The tax payer cannot provide all of the money that is needed, and a federal appropriation would help in taking care of the situation without placing a heavy burden on the small taxpayer.

"The progressives will also introduce the Norris resolution for abolishment on the 'lame duck' sessions of congress, and for the government ownership and operation of Muscle Shoals.

"They will also advocate an increase in the inheritance tax and the income tax in the higher brackets, and the establishment of a gift tax, the latter aimed to prevent the distribution of bequests in advance of death, to avoid payment of inheritance tax. This would apply only to substantial amounts. The practice of making bequests before death, thereby dodging payment of inheritance tax by recipients of the bequests, has become quite common, and is a problem with which the government must cope.

Want Committees Reduced

"Liberalization of the house rules, and revision of the committee system, will also be demanded by Progressives. Under present house rules, in order to discharge a committee and place before the house a question which the committee is attempting to bury, it is necessary to secure 218 signatures before a motion to bring the matter before the house can be put. This results in the killing of a number of measures in committee, without an opportunity for a vote by the house. The Progressives will ask a change in the rules on a more liberal basis.

"While there are at present sixty committees in the house, they will ask that this number be cut to 21. With fewer committees, each member will be appointed to only one committee, but each of these will be an important committee. They will also ask that committees elect their own chairmen, and will attempt to break the patronage system."

Cavalry Chief Protests Reduction In U. S. Forces

Washington—(AP)—Reductions in the strength of the cavalry brought a mild protest from its chief today in his annual report to Secretary Hurley of the war department.

Major General Guy V. Henry said the cavalry's enlisted strength had been reduced during the year to 7,959, a drop of 369 men. Of these 343 were transferred to the air corps.

General Henry said there are not sufficient cavalry troops in the Boston New York, Baltimore and Columbus, Ohio, corps areas "for the efficient summer training of the organized reserves, Reserve Officers Training corps, and Citizens Military Training camp units." He asserted reduction of the authorized number of private mounts for officers from two to one is "fraught with great disadvantages."

The reduction was effected in 1929 to save money as the government provides $200 a year for maintenance of each private mount owned by an officer.

General Henry contended that under the old system better horsemanship resulted and the horses were in better condition.

In general the report found the morale high but added that "many cavalry officers are sorely pressed financially" due to inadequate pay.

Mechanization of the cavalry to keep abreast of modern developments was aproved although not to the extent of putting the horse cavalry out of business.

Studies thus far have indicated, the general said, that the use of mechanized equipment is "limited in combat" and that it "does not supplant either cavalry or infantry but must be had in addition thereto."

It was recommended that all horse troops be provided with modern equipment including anti-armored vehicle weapons and light trucks to replace the mule drawn escort wagon if found practicable.

The fire-power of the cavalry regiment was reported as having been greatly increased by the substitution of an air-cooled light machine gun for the machine rifle.

WAR CHAPLAIN SPEAKS HERE ON ARMISTICE DAY

Rev. Gustave Stearns, Milwaukee, to Address Legion Gathering

One of the most gallant chaplains serving in the World war will be the honored guest and speaker at the annual Armistice day banquet of Oney Johnston post of the American legion and the auxiliary at 6:30 Wednesday evening at Rainbow Gardens. He is the Rev. Gustav Stearns, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran church of the Ascension, Milwaukee. He will speak on "Armistice Day Who Is My Comrade?"

War to him was as realistic as that of any soldier who served with overseas forces in France. He was attached to the 127th Infantry, 32nd Division, in which a number of Appleton legionnaires saw service. This unit took part in some of the most famous battles of the war, including the Aisne-Marne offensive, the battle of Juvigny, and others.

In his zeal to serve his men, the Rev. Mr. Stearns exposed himself to shell fire many times. He braved the enemy barrages to aid the wounded and bury the dead. Just after the battle of Juvigny his heroic service was given recognition when he was cited for gallantry in action "for burying the dead under heavy shell fire."

The Chaplain's speeches are as vigorous as his war service. He has a flood of memories of the days of '17 and '18 and with his capacity for fascinating oratory keeps his hearers "on the edge of their seats." He will read to his audience two letters received recently, one from a French priest he met at Enoms while passing through the Village on the way to the French front. The priest lost a leg during service and was decorated by the French government. The other letter is from a German prisoner wounded by the Americans and taken prisoner by them. He was at a Christmas service conducted by the chaplain at an American base hospital.

City Hall Closes

Armistice day will be officially recognized by Appleton citizens at 11 o'clock when several bombs will be fired as a salute. Factory whistles will be blown and citizens have been asked by Mayor John Goodland, Jr., to stand and pause in honor of soldier and sailor dead. Merchants in the city will be asked to fly American flags on the side walks during the day.

Banks, the city hall, courthouse and library will not be open for business. Stores will remain open, however.

Rural schools will be closed, according to A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. This day is designated by state law as a legal holiday, Mr. Meating said. All teachers of rural schools were instructed to hold memorial programs Tuesday afternoon.

Talks to Vets

Reprint From The Milwaukee Journal

Rev. Gustav Stearns, war time chaplain of the 127th Infantry, a Wisconsin regiment in the 32nd or Red Arrow division, will be the principal speaker at the American legion's annual Armistic day program and celebration at Rainbow Gardens Wednesday night. His subject will be "Armistice Day —Who Is My Comrade?'

PERSONAL PROPERTY LISTS ARE REDUCED

Elimination of Automobiles Cuts Number of Items to Eight

Dropping automobiles from the list of taxable objects cuts down Appleton's list of personal property items to eight classes, including the one all-inclusive class, "all other property not exempt." Automobiles, motorcycles, mules, horses, wagons, carriages and sleighs are no longer taxable, but meat cattle, sheep and lambs swine, merchants and manufacturers' stocks; logs, timber, ties, and posts; steamboats and other vessels; property and franchises of water and light companies, still are assessable.

Horses and mules furnished the city with a large assessment at one time, and as late as 1930 there were 115 of these animals listed by the assessors. Their total valuation was $10,850. In the same year there were 122 wagons, carriages, and sleighs with an assessed valuation of $4,375.

REPORT TWO CASES OF DIPHTHERIA IN CITY

Appleton's list of contagious disease sidestepped from the usual run of whooping cough and tuberculosis last week. Two cases of diphtheria, one of measles, one of tuberculosis and three of whooping cough were reported to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer.

Mayor Urges Support For Charity Tilt

A proclamation urging Appleton citizens to support the charity game between Appleton and Kaukauna high school football teams on Armistice day was issued this morning by Mayor John Goodland, Jr. His statement reads:

"Armistice Day is an occasion of thanksgiving for victory.

"With all thankfulness we look back to that Armistice day which ended the World War.

"Peace, like war, breeds virtues in men but without the cost of war. These virtues are intrepidity, contempt of softness, surrender of private interest, obbedience to command, and charity for our fellow man.

"An opportunity for such a charity now presents itself to our citizens. Through the efforts of Legionnaires, the high school football teams of Appleton and Kaukauna will play a game on Armistice day at the George F. Whiting athletic field, Appleton. Proceeds of this game are to be donated to charity.

"I heartily beseech and urge our citizens to attend and support this worthy undertaking. Oney Johnston Post No. 38 and Kaukauna Post No. 41 of the American Legion, football boys, coaches, and school authorities of Kaugaura and Appleton are to be congratulated for this splendid display of public spirit and charitable effort."

MANY ACTIVITIES ON WEEK'S PROGRAM AT "Y"

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. will meet Thursday evening to hear reports from employed officers and members of the association staff.

Organization of association committees will be completed this week, according to George F. Werner, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and next Tuesday members will hold a joint meeting to discuss activities for the year. The meeting will open with a dinner at 6:15.

Friday evening the annual new members reception of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at the association building. Dr. John R. Denyes will give a talk and the evening will be spent watching sports events sponsored by the association and in use of association games and facilities. Ladies have been invited to the reception.

Home Aid Service Bureau Distributes $6,140 As It Ends Year

FOUR SOCIETIES SHARE SURPLUS FROM 1930 FUND

Money Apportioned on Basis of Relief Expenditures Last April

After apportioning $6,140.96 that remained after a year of operation to the four cooperating charities and turning its relief records over ot the newly organized Appleton Relief and Welfare council, the Home Aid Service bureau closed its books at a meeting in the office of L. A. Alsted, its charman, yesterday afternoon. Home Aid was responsible for raising approximately $27,000 in a public relief campaign last fall and supervised the expenditure of this money, with the exception of $5,000 paid to the Salvation Army and the distribution of the $6,140 surplus remaining at the end of the year.

The surplus was divided in accordance with a resolution adopted last May when directors of the Home Aid society decided they would not be responsible for the 1931 campaign. At that time it was decided to apportion the money to the four cooperating charities on the basis of their expenditures for the month of April, which was regarded as a typical month.

City Relief society, 28 per cent or $1,719.47.

Jewish Ladies Aid society, 13 per cent or $789.32.

German Ladies Aid society, 8 per cent or $91.28.

Appleton Apostolate, 51 per cent or $3,131.89.

Total expenditures made during the year, including the Salvation Army's $5,000 share of the campaign proceeds, were $21,250.34, of which less than $1,500 was required for administration. There also was an expense item of $750 for conducting the campaign last year, making a total of about $2,200 for campaign and administration expense, or about 8 per cent.

Largest expenditures during the year were made for groceries, meats and fuel. Grocery and meat bills totaled $6,971.02 and fuel cost $4,159.19. The service bureau issued 1,931 grocery orders, and 2,076 medicine, clothing, meat and milk orders during the year. Shoes and clothing was provided at cost of $841.38 and hospital and medical service cost another $729.09. The service bureau's milk bill for the year was $1,161.59.

Before concluding their session directors of Home Aid adopted resolutions expressing their appreciation for the services of Mr. Alsted as chairman, Daniel P. Steinberg as secretary and L. J. Marshall as treasurer of the organization.

INCREASE NOTED IN WATER CONSUMPTION

There was a marked increase in consumption of city water last month compared with the same period of 1930, according to A. J. Hall, superintendent of the pumping station and filtration plant. Last month 66,380,000 gallons were treated, compared to 63,010,000 gallons in October, 1930.

The Diesel oil engines last month pumped 64,990,000 gallons and the electric auxiliary units 1,390,000 gallons. In October, 1930, the oil engines pumped 60,680,000 gallons and the electric units 2,330,000 gallons.

Approximately 1,630,000 gallons of water were utilized in the process of filtration at the plant last month, the percentage of wash water aggregating 2.4 per cent, according to Mr. Hall. In October of last year 2,352,000 gallons were used to wash filters, and the percentage of wash water was 3.7 per cent.

The oil engines last month consumed 4,852 gallons of fuel oil, a slight decrease over the same period of last year. In October, 1930, the oil engines used 4,934 gallons of oil.

URGE ATTENDANCE AT CHARITY GRID GAME

VOCATIONAL SCHOOL BOARD MEETS THURSDAY

The monthly meeting of Appleton vocational school board of directors will be held Thursday afternoon in the school building. A dinner served by students of the domestic science department will precede the business session. A report on evening school will be given by Herb Heilig, director. The building and grounds committee will hear a report on maintenance problems prepared recently by the engineer in charge. Cooperative courses conducted jointly by the University of Wisconsin Extension division and vocational school also will be discussed.

DISCUSS CUBBING, SEA SCOUTING AT REGIONAL MEETING

Valley Council Delegation Returns from Great Lakes Conference

M. G. Clark, valley scout executive, returned Monday evening from the Great Lakes Naval Training station at Great Lakes, Ill., where he attended the region sea scouting and cubbing conference. Thirteen other scouters of the valley council from Neenah, Menasha and Appleton attended the conference on Saturday and Sunday. They returned Sunday evening.

As a result of the conference, there probably will be many important developments in sea scouting and cubbing programs in the valley council, Mr. Clark stated.

Thomas J. Keane, New York City, national sea scouting director, was one of the principal speakers. He pointed out that a sea scouting program is designed especially to develop boy character through adventure and romance as it is derived from the sea. The program is especially designed for boys 15 or more years of age.

Mr. Keane said the program satisfies the desires of the older boy, and challenges adventure and intellect. He said boys who reach the age of 15 are looking for some form of recognition for their accomplishments.

He also pointed out that boys who reach that age like to be in something that has a distinguishing uniform which stands for tradition and service. The program also gives these boys the opportunity to master nautical language and offers a preferred athletic program, he stated.

Walter Kiplinger, region seven executive in his address on the cubbing program predicted that within the next five or 10 years the program for younger boys will exceed that of the present boy scout organization. He said the organization has been gaining approximately 800 youngsters every month.

RADIO DEVELOPMENTS OUTLINED TO DEALERS

Officials of the R. C. A. Victor company and the Taylor Electric company, distributors, held a dealers' meeting at the Conway hotel Monday evening. About 75 dealers from this district heard Dean Lewis, district sales manager of the Victor company, and J. A. Taylor, president of the Taylor company, tell of the latest developments in radio. They spoke especially of the home recording and the new long playing record.

MEDIC GOLFERS HOST TO LAWYERS TONIGHT

Twelve Appleton doctors and 12 Appleton lawyers will gather at 6:30 tonight at Hotel Northern where they will dine and talk over a certain golf match played last summer in which the lawyers defeated the medics. The medics are hosts at tonight's dinner, the lawyers the guests as result of the victory. A special program of entertainment has been prepared.

CHURCH COUNCIL MAKES PLANS FOR ANNUAL MEET

Plans for the annual congregational meeting and banquet were discussed at a meeting of the Mount Olive Lutheran church council in the church parlors Monday evening. The annual session will take place Friday evening, Dec. 11, in the church. Members of the Ladies Aid society probably will be in charge of the banquet.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Corsi Thursday at Holy Family hospital in Manitowoc.

A daughter was born Wednesday to Mr. and Mrs. George Ballard, 505 S. Story-st, at St. Elizabeth hospital.

DEPRESSION IS OVER, NUMBER EXPERT CLAIMS

Great Prosperity in Sight for U. S., Numerologist Tells Lions

The depression is over, Ed. Hall, numerologist, told Appleton Lions club yesterday at Conway hotel. Phenomenal prosperity is coming to the United States for the next 17 years, but along with it will come a war of defense, probably in about seven years. It will be brought on by jealousy, he indicated.

For more than an hour Mr. Hall traced the history of numerology and explained its background and its psychic aspect. He then attempted to prove his deductions by citing cases of famous men, and by referring to situations and conditions as he has found them during his years of "readings."

Concerning prosperity, Mr. Hall said there will be a great expose and revelation within the next few days that will shock the country, that will show how a small group has manipulated the country's and world's finances, which brought about the depression. Out of it there will be a new financial order, followed by great prosperity, he predicted.

Several weeks ago, Mr. Hall said, he claimed the depression would end about Nov. 1 and that there would be a definite trend upward shortly after the first of the month. He pointed to the increase in wheat prices which occurred recently and said that was the first sign.

Predicted Slump

He also claimed he told Rotarians in national convention in 1929 that a depression was about to hit the country. That was in early October, and a few days later the first stock market crash came, with the second crash later in the month. "They laughed at me when I told them what was to happen," Mr. Hall said, "but nevertheless it came."

The month you are born, the date, the year, the way you write your name, and the days on which you do things all mean something, according to numbers, Mr. Hall said. He went into a long detail to show that everything in Thomas A. Edison's life led toward success. That his name and the date of his birth were governed by the number 22, the luckiest number known, and the number 19, which indicated inventive genius.

Incidentally, Mr. Hall pointed out, 18 is the blackest or most unlucky number known. He pointed out that the 18th amendment is not meeting with success, and said that unless changes take place the year 1944-45 bodes a great revolution for the United States, which will hinge about the 18th amendment.

The number 13, which usually is considered unlucky, is far from that, Mr. Hall said. He traced its influence in American life from the 13 colonies on through the governmental seals, the flag and details of the seal.

Four is another number which has a great guiding influence on the United States, he said. He showed its connection to the presidency of the United States. Every fourth president has died in office, Mr. Hall said, they take office every four years on March 4. Incidentally, he said that the second president after Hoover is destined to die in office. He also said Charles Lindbergh, a great follower of numerology, would be offered the presidency of the country some day and that he would be destined to die in office if he accepts.

Numbers Aid Lindy

Concerning Lindbergh, Mr. Hall said, his name ciphers down to 11, according to numerology and that so does "Spirit of St. Louis" and that together the 11's bring 22, which brough about Lindbergh's phenomenal success on his trans-Atlantic flight.

The luck of the numbers 11 and 22 was further shown by Mr. Hall when he referred to Armistice being signed in November, the eleventh month, the eleventh day and eleventh hour.

People who have double letters in their names are destined to success, according to numerical figuring, Mr. Hall said. Then he named Woodrow Wilson, Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, F. W. Woolworth, S. S. Kresge, J. P. Penney, Kinney, the shoe man, Fannie Farmer, Fannie May, Rockefeller, Will Rogers, Andrew Mellon, and many others whose names he said one could pick out of any issue of Time magazine.

MAN PAYS FINE FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

William Nicolai, Manawa, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of reckless driving. He was arrested Sunday night on Highway 76 in the town of Greenville. It was charged he cut in and out of a line of traffic in a reckless manner.

R. V. Just, New London, was fined $5 and costs for jumping an arterial at the intersection of Highways 76 and 26 at Greenville. He was arrested on Nov. 8 but was unable to be in court until yesterday. Both arrests were made by Charles Steidl, motorcycle officer.

2 DRIVERS PAY FINES OF $10, COSTS EACH

Two drivers were fined $10 and costs each by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning when they pleaded guilty. They were: Julius A. Pennings, Little Chute, charged with driving a car without transferring the license, and Fred F. Hein, Milwaukee, charged with driving a car without proper license plates. Pennings was arrested by Fred Arndt, motorcycle, officer, and Hein was arrested by Officer Walter Hendricks.

Harold Alger, 27, Kaukauna motorcycle officer, who was accidentally shot when his revolver dropped to the ground at Nitingale ball room on Highway 41 north of Kaukauna yesterday morning. Alger died a few minutes later. He was repairing his motorcycle.

STUDENTS TO PAY TRIBUTE TO VETERANS

Armistice Day Programs Are Scheduled in Schools in Appleton

More than 6,000 Appleton school children will stand with bowed heads at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning in silent commemoration of departed World War heroes as a part of Armistice day programs in the various city schools. Special speakers from the American legion will address students at Appleton high school and the three junior high schools.

The city public schools and most of the parochial schools will have a half holiday tomorrow with the Armistice day programs closing the morning's work.

Patriotic songs, community singing and patriotic stories will be woven into programs in the various grade schools. History classes will prepare special programs at St. Joseph junior high school and Zion parish school will hold a general student program in the school auditorium. The other grade schools will have individual classroom programs under the direction of the teachers. Kindergarteners and first and second grade children will have story hours and flag drills as a part of their participation in the morning's programs.

L. Hugo Keller, former state commander of the American legion, will address Appleton high school students in the school auditorium. Werner Witte, assistant principal and chairman of the Americanization committee of the local legion post, will have charge of the assembly.

Speakers Listed

Herbert Helble, commander of Oney Johnston post and principal of Appleton high school, will speak before the assembly at Wilson junior high school. Community singing will complete the program here.

The Rev. Lyle D. Utts is the speaker of the day at Roosevelt junior high school. The junior high school orchestra under the direction of Jay Williams, will give a short patriotic concert. The Boy and Girl Scout troops will take part in the program.

The general assembly at McKinley junior high school, where Attorney Frank Wheeler will appear, includes students from the fifth through the ninth grades. The flag salute and pledge of allegiance will open the program with the moment of silence followed by "Taps" played by John Kesselhorn, ninth grade student. The sixth grade will present a group of patriotic songs which will be followed by the address of the day.

The Rev. Theodore Marth will address the students in Zion Parish school in a general program for all the grades.

SCHOOLMASTERS' CLUB MEETS HERE TOMORROW

Prof. E. A. Crofts of the University of Wisconsin and Miss Blanche McCarty, past president of the Wisconsin Education association will be the principal speakers at the dinner meeting of the Fox River Valley Schoolmasters' club Wednesday evening at Conway hotel.

Schoolteachers from all parts of the valley will attend this meeting which is the first of a series of three held during the year. Miss McCarthy will discuss the importance of the teachers' organization in the subject, "The Wisconsin Education association is Our Hope." Prof. Crofts, who is conducting a course in sociology for teachers through the extension division of the university, will support the argument that teachers should join the ranks of organized labor and unionize.

GRANTED PERMISSION TO CONSTRUCT GARAGE

Carl Ebert was given permission to build a garage at 1210 N. Badger-ave at a meeting of the board of building inspection Tuesday morning. The building inspector denied the permit because the proposed structure is to be of wood, and the property is located within the fire limits.

RED CROSS TO LAUNCH DRIVE ON WEDNESDAY

Committee Decides to Conduct Campaign Through Mail Canvass

The annual membership roll call of the Outagamie-co chapter of the American Red Cross will be launched here Wednesday, Armistice day, the committee in charge announced today. The committee is composed of A. G. Meating, Outagamie-co superintendent of schools, Judge Fred V. Heinemann, and A. P. Jensen.

Because of the many other campaigns being conducted for relief work, the chapter has decided to carry on its drive through the mails, eliminating personal solicitation. Letters are to be sent to about 1,500 people in Appleton inviting them to join the American Red Cross. Similar campaigns will be conducted in other cities, towns and villages of the county.

The drive will continue from Armistice day until Thanksgiving day, which date has been emphasized by presidential proclamation and governors' statements, and especially in public circles because 1931 is the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Red Cross.

Last year's roll call in this county resulted in 800 memberships and 4,075,649 in the United States and its insular possessions. The support from members in the county helped the chapter to conduct an effective program of relief work, especially among the Indians on the Oneida reservation.

Pay Tribute To Veterans, Mayor Urges

A proclamation asking all Appleton persons to observe Armistice day with the traditional minute of silent prayer for the war dead at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning was issued this morning by Mayor John Goodland, Jr. The mayor requests that flags be displayed on all homes and business places, and that when the whistles blow at 11 o'clock the populace face the east for one minute of silent tribute to those whose memories are honored on Armistice day. The mayor's proclamation follows:

"Whereas, Wednesday, Nov. 11 is Armistice day, the thirteenth anniversary of the close of the World War, and

"Whereas, with all the jubilant celebration of the joyful relief of that memorable day 13 years ago, it is fitting that the sacred memory of those who died on the battlefields of France be honored in the hearts of American people,

"I, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., therefore do ask citizens of Appleton to pause at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning for one minute of silent prayer for those who gave their lives to uphold the glorious traditions of America, and urge everyone to face the east as they pay silent tribute to the heroes of the great war."

JURY DELIBERATES IN ACCIDENT SUIT

A jury in municipal court this afternoon was deliberating on its verdict in the suit for damages of $5,471, brought by Ethan Brewster, Kaukauna, administrator of the estate of his mother, Mrs. Ella Brewster, against the R. J. Wilson Construction company of Appleton and the Employer's Liability Assurance Corporation. The case opened yesterday morning before Judge Theodore Berg.

Mrs. Brewster died July 8, 1930, from injuries received when she was struck by a truck owned by the Appleton firm and driven by Lester Ludtke, Kaukauna. It is charged that Ludtke, an employe of the Wilson company, was driving in a careless manner when the accident happened early on the evening of July 5. Mrs. Brewster died three days after the accident.

FAIR, COLD WEATHER PREDICTED WEDNESDAY

Clear skies with a drop in temperature tonight is predicated by the weatherman. Wednesday the mercury will start to rise, he says. Predictions for the next 24 hours are practically the same throughout the middlewest, with the exception of the upper lake regions where skies will be cloudy.

Winds are shifting to the northwest, a good indication that colder weather is on the way. At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 38 degrees above zero, and at noon it registered 49 degrees above.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS MEET THIS EVENING

The Lawrence college chapter of the American Association of University Professors will hold a banquet Tuesday evening at Hotel Appleton. Dr. A. A. Trever is chairman of the chapter and Dr. L. A. Youtz, is secretary. Dr. R. B. Thiel, professor of education, will lead a discussion on the objectivity of tests in education

ESCANABA VETERAN OBSERVES BIRTHDAY ON ARMISTICE DAY

Escanaba, Mich. — (AP) —Flags will wave and parades will march when John C. Calhoon celebrates his ninety-fifth birthday anniversary.

In a measure the flags and the processions will honor Mr. Calhoon, for his birthday anniversary happens to be Armistice Day and he was a soldier and a descendant of soldiers.

Mr. Calhoon is the last of four brothers, all of whom saw service in the Civil war. Calhoon's father fought in the War of 1912, and his grandfather, Andrew Calhoon, was a veteran of the Revolutionary war.

In the Civil war Mr. Calhoon fought in the battles of Shiloh, Nashville and Tupolo and he was in the engagement which culminated in the capture of Mobile.

Mr. Calhoon lives with a daughter, Mrs. James E. King, in Wells, Mich., three miles north of Escanaba. Other children are David, Oshkosh; John, Green Bay; Andrew, Neenah and Abner, Wilsel, Mont.

ROHAN STRESSES REFORESTATION IN ADDRESS TO JACES

Says There Are 7,000,000 Acres of Idle Land in Wisconsin

Residents of Wisconsin should give serious consideration to the rapid depletion of timber lands in the state, B. P. Rohan, city superintendent of schools, told the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting at Conway hotel Monday evening. New members accepted by the organization are Bernard Karasik and William Meagher. Pat Smith entertained, with selections on his accordion.

Wisconsin's policy of reforestation should include proper taxation of present timberlands, drastic tree planting programs and adequate control and prevention of forest fires, Mr. Rohan stated.

He said there are 7,000,000 acres of idle timber land in Wisconsin, which could well be used for tree planting programs. The yearly planting of trees now is only one thousand acres, which is wholly inadequate, the speaker declared.

DEATHS

MRS. JOSEPH GABRIEL

Mrs. Joseph Gabriel, 66, a resident of Hortonville for the last 28 years, died suddenly at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning at her home there. She was born in Bloomington, Ill., April 26, 1865, and was married 46 years ago to Joseph M. Gabriel at West Bend. The couple lived at Campbellsport for 15 years, near Clintonville for three years, and then came to Hortonville.

Survivors are the widower; four daughters, Mrs. Mary Kaufman of Appleton, Mrs. Angela Tennie of Greenville, Mrs. Florence Lloyd of Berlin, Miss Sophia Gabriel of Milwaukee; one son, George of Hortonville; 12 grandchildren; one brother, George Benyenheimer; and one sister, Mrs. Mary Grundt, both of Fond du Lac.

Funeral services will be held at St. Peter and Paul church at Hortonville at 10 o'clock Friday morning, with Rev. Theodore Kolbe in charge. Interment will be in the Catholic cemetery.

Mrs. Gabriel was a member of Christian Mothers sodality.

FREDERICK SAECKER

Frederick Albert Saecker, 86, brother of W. F. and F. E. Saecker, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Broker, Markesan, Tuesday morning. Mr. Saecker, oldest son of the late Godfrey and Hannah Saecker, was born in Germany and came to America in 1863, settling in Dodge-co. In 1877 he moved to Markesan where he conducted a machine shop until six years ago, when he retired. He was a life-long member of the Evangelical church at Markesan. Survivors are four daughters, two sons, and two brothers. Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Friday afternoon at the Evangelical church, and burial will be in the Markesan cemetery.

Firemen To Make Monthly Contribution To Aid Poor

Appleton firemen today recognized the need for poor relief work in the city when Fire Chief George P. McGillan announced that 31 of the 33 members of the department had agreed to contribute $5 per month each out of their salaries to the city treasury. The money is to be used for the relief of poor. The first payment will be made when the firemen receive their checks on Nov. 16. The payment will continue every month thereafter, according to Chief McGillan, as long as the necessity exists.

Thirty members of the department have volunteered to contribute $5 per month to the fund while the thirty-first member, Chief McGilan, will give $10 per month, making a total of $160 per month. The chief said that the firemen volunteered these contributions and that no effort at solicitation was made.

Those who are making the contributions are:

District Attorney Stanley A. Staidl Tuesday noon said his office was still investigating the accident Saturday night in which Ignatius Yelg, 80, 120 S. Spruce-st, was fatally injured when he walked into the side of an Appleton Pure Milk company truck at the corner of College-ave, Bennet-st and Pierce-ave. The truck was being driven west on College-ave by Lester Rempter, 1330 S. Oneida-st and the aged man was crossing College-ave on a diagonal line from the northeast corner of Bennet-st and College-ave to the southeast corner of College-Pierce-aves. The truck driver said he saw Yelg and slowed down. When the old man stopped he started up again about the same time and walked into the side of the truck. He was knocked to the pavement and died a few hours later.

PLAN REPORTS FOR DIVISION MEETING

EVANSTON PROPERTY OWNERS TO EMPLOY STUDENT WATCHMEN

Evanston, Ill. — (AP) — Northwestern university's employment bureau has induced property owners to employ student night watchmen, it was announced last night.

Willard J. Buntain, employment manager, said that as soon as the football season ends, the bureau will try to place as many of the football players as need financial assistance.

Six student patrolmen have already got jobs and will be given guns, stars, and flashlights, he said.

FLOWER GROUP PLANS JUNIOR DEPARTMENT

Appoints Committee to Study and Investigate Proposals

Proposed plans for organization of a junior department in the flower and garden division of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce are to be studied by a committee of three appointed at a meeting of the division in the chamber offices Monday evening. This committee is composed of Mrs. M. F. Hatch, Mrs. Angeline Kitson and Miss Cora Guenther.

The division is interested in expanding its program of flower study and gardening to boys and girls, and definite reports on the findings of the committee will be submitted at the next meeting of the organization in the chamber offices Monday evening, Dec. 7.

Reports on flower shows conducted in June and August were reviewed.

START DRAWING JURY TO TRY APPLETON MAN

Drawing of a jury to hear the case of state versus William Mitchell, Appleton, charged with a statutory offense, started in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this morning. The first panel of jurymen was exhausted before a complete jury had been chosen and a recess was taken until 2 o'clock so that more jurors could be called in. Mitchell, with William Van Gompel, town of Vandenbroek, was arrested on complaint of two Vandenbroek girls. The girls charged the men offered them a ride home from a dance in Oneida and that they were attacked during the ride. Van Gompel has already been found guilty by a jury and his sentence is pending.

The HOME with MUSIC is the HAPPY HOME

Where parents and children gather around the piano for some favorite songs before bedtime . . . where the "teens and the twenties" meet for dancing . . . where daughter plays the piano and son the violin . . . there is no room for "juvenile delinquency!"

Actual tests show that children who have been taught to play some instrument capture more school prizes and scholarships than those without musical education.

Why not? Their training in music has taught them concentration, developed their mental background, given them an appreciation of all the arts. They can work better, think better, study better, because they know Music.

Whatever instrument your son or daughter prefers,— piano, violin, harp, piano accordeon, saxophone, band instrument — we can supply one of standard quality, at moderate cost.

Drop into our showroom and let us tell you how little it will cost to bring the joy of SELF-MADE music into your home.

AGREE IMPORTANCE OF 5-YEAR PLAN IS NOT IN TIME CLAUSE

Two Appleton Men in Harmony on One Point, but Disagree on Others

BY RUBY A. BLACK

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—It is unimportant whether or not the Russian Soviet's five year plan is completed in five years or not, according to two Wisconsin men in Washington, Dr. Delos O. Kinsman, formerly of Appleton and Dr. William F. Notz, formerly of Watertown.

But after that one agreement, they disagree, or rather view the argument-provoking nation from different angles. Both men are well qualified to discuss Russia, her problems and projects.

Dr. Kinsman, who heads the economic department of American university here, spent considerable time in Russia in the summer of 1930, traveling with a group of well known American economists. He not only saw what the Soviet authorities wanted him to see but much that they might not have approved. Dr. Kinsman was particularly lucky in that his roommate, Dr. Nathan Shaviro, editor of the Journal of Commerce, spoke the language. Thus they were able to talk with the peasant and the man in the street.

Dr. Notz has visited Russia several times, his last visit being made in the summer of 1931. He is dean of the foreign service school of Georgetown university. His companion, a Swedish scholar, also spoke Russian so that he was likewise able to deal with Russians other than the officials of the Soviet.

Time Unimportant

But back to the five year plan. Dr. Notz bases his opinion that the completion of the five-year plan in five years is unimportant, upon the time element. That is, it is the completion not the time taken for completion that matters. He believes that, as Stalin himself has said, Russia will carry through the five-year plan even if it takes 100 years.

Dr. Kinsman's argument is that it doesn't matter after all whether Russia ever completes her plan. The important thing, he believes, is whether or not she does enough to make her people think that the project is raising their standard of living and deserves their support. He is inclined to believe that the Soviet plan has raised the Russian standard of living though he does not seem so wholeheartedly sure of ultimate success of the plan as Dr. Notz does. During his visit in Russia, Dr. Kinsman talked to an American engineer in Moscow who criticized the Russian program but credited it with improving living conditions until they are about 60 per cent higher than before the revolution. A member of the economists' party, a professor from Brown university, who had lived in Russia during the revolution of 1917 agreed with the engineer.

Dr. Notz says "I found the conviction general among the informed Europeans that Russia is gradually succeeding in her plans . . ." He adds that he considers success of the Russian plan as a menace to civilization.

Dr. Kinsman does not go this far concerning the plan in general, since he considers portions of it extremely praiseworthy but he says that no real civilization can, in his opinion, be built upon anything but a foundation of monogamy. Certainly the shifting sex relations of Russia at present cannot be twisted into anything resembling family life or social order.

He particularly laments Russia's attacks upon religion. He states, however, that such attacks seem to be losing their fury since the Soviet has found it impossible to turn the spiritual enthusiasm of religion in to material enthusiasm for the plan.

"Cruel Regime"

Dr. Notz says, "The Russian regime is a cruel one and I encountered many instances of harsh treatment accorded those opposing the government. Human life means little and labor nothing."

Dr. Kinsman admits that the Russians "have many of the characteristics of the Orientals to whom human life has never mattered much." He seems however to believe that the high officials of the Soviet government are vastly concerned with satisfying the mass of people realizing that they must have the rank and file with them for success. He says that secret police are everywhere.

Dr. Notz states that he found little suffering among the peasants and little disposition to support a revolution. They are, he says, well fed though their diet consists principally of black bread and soup. In his opinion, the rest of the world has little to fear from Russian propaganda for some time to come since "Russia is too busy now solving its domestic problems to indulge in much outside activity."

Dr. Kinsman agrees with Dr. Notz that there is no need to fear Russia propaganda but differs in his reason. Our standard of living and that in most European countries are so far above that of Russia—even as now improved—that Russia has nothing with which to tempt us.

Dr. Notz gives much credit to aid from the United States in helping Russia to succeed in her plan. This aid takes the form of credit, money and engineering skill.

Dr. Kinsman agrees with him but adds that Germany has sent more technicians and engineers to Russia than has the United States, and that France and Italy are giving much aid to the Soviet.

See Need For Alarm

Two things which the Soviet government is sponsoring should be viewed with alarm by the Soviet itself, Dr. Kinsman observes, if Russia is to remain under its present rule. First, is the manner of education which seems to be teaching young Russia to think for itself, only to graduate it into a hide-bound scheme of things with all efforts bent toward the success of a pre-ordained plan. Though much of the education emphasizes the industrial students are taught to read and write and to think and Dr. Kinsman anticipates Russia's coming a cropper when the next generation or so is ready to think and finds it is not supposed to.

The second plan sponsored by the Soviet, which he questions, is the granting of permission to various parts of the nation to speak their own, individual languages and local dialects. Certainly this is no way to unify a country, Dr. Kinsman believes, and says the only reason for such a practice seems to be the Soviet's frantic desire to do everything exactly opposite to the custom under the Czarist rule.

Find Many Remarkable Economies In Hollywood

BY JESSIE HENDERSON

Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press

Hollywood — (CPA) — There's a good deal said about Hollywood extravagances but what of Hollywood economies? There are some remarkable ones.

Miriam Hopkins, for instance, likes to save on clothes, an idea pretty extraordinary anywhere but particularly so in the film capital. But Miss Hopkins is not alone in really preferring a suit not so new to one just out of the shop. William Slavens McNutt and Slavko Vorkapich, the writers, also like their old clothes best, while Irving Pichel and Berthold Viertel confess that their pet economy is wearing old hats.

Ernst Lubitsch and Clive Brook smoke their cigarets or cigars to the bitter end. Rouben Mamoulain and Louis Garnier refuse to purchase matches. Fred Scott, the singer, can't force himself to throw away any piece of music however tattered.

The economy bug bites writers even harder than it chews actors. Ernest Pascal for instance squeezes his toothpaste tubes flatter than a pancake. And Waldemar Young blushingly confessed today that he saves the string which comes on packages—"Heavens knows why," he added.

Maurice Chevalier saves by driving a cheap car instead of an expensive one. Harpo Marx declared once that he saved cat food by owning a dog, but Harpo Marx saves every dime he gets, puts it carefully into a bank and then gives dollar tips to waiters.

MAKING OF COTTAGE CHEESE AIDS PLANTS

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington — Making cottage cheese according to Uncle Sam's recipe is helping dairy products plants turn once wasted skim wilk to a profit, according to a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture report.

Standardized methods of making cottage cheese have been developed by government experts to produce cottage cheese characterized by low acid content, by high keeping qualities, and distinctive curd particles which keep their shape after milk and cream have been added, the report continues.

This kind of cheese is more to the public liking than cottage cheese made by haphazard methods and has enabled dairy-products plants to build up a greater public demand and to use their surplus skim milk.

The owner of a western plant recently reported that after taking lessons from Uncle Sam, he was able to increase his cottage cheese business to a point where he is now unable to supply all the demand.

MAENNERCHOR PLANS FOR CONCERT, PLAY

Plans are being completed for a concert and German play which will be presented by Appleton Maennerchor at Eagles hall at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, Nov. 22, under direction of Professor A. J. Theiss. A dancing party will follow.

The concert will consist of choir selections and vocal solos by members of the Maennerchor. Six choir members composed the cast for "Die Kinstauf," a two-act comedy play.

HELBLE IS NAMED HEAD OF COUNTY LEGION ROUNDUP

Oney Johnston Commander to Place Member Cards on Plane Nov. 11

Appleton and Outagamie-co legion memberships to be forwarded to state headquarters Wednesday will be sent to Herbert H. Helble, Oney Johnston post commander, Appleton, who will place them on the airplane taking Fox river valley post cards to state headquarters in the annual membership roundup.

Eleven planes will be used in the state drive. Several will be private planes, while the others will be planes owned by air companies in Wisconsin. Former governor Walter J. Kohler again has offered his plane as has the Midwest Airways company which flies the mail through the Fox valley.

The plane which will pick up cards from Appleton and Outagamie-co will be piloted by Ed Nelson, Manitowoc. It will leave Manitowoc at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with cards from that city and county. It will pick up cards at Green Bay from Brown, Kewaunee, and Door-cos at 2:30, and then fly to George A. Whiting air port where it will arrive at 2:45. Outagamie-co and Winnebago-co cards will be placed on the plane here and it will arrive in Milwaukee at 4 o'clock.

State legion authorities have offered honor awards for all Legionaires who take part in rounding up of member cards. At least 25,000 cards are expected in state headquarters Wednesday night when all planes report. Oney Johnston post, Appleton, has set 500 members as the goal for Wednesday's plane.

INDIGESTION
SOUR STOMACH
HEARTBURN
CONSTIPATION
GAS, NAUSEA

RICH food . . . strong coffee . . . heavy smoking. Then the penalty for indulgence. Digestive distress!

People who are haunted by this form of suffering simply have not learned its one common cause.

Usually, it's the fault of too much acid.

Meats, fish, breads, pastry can easily cause over-acidity, and this destroys the alkaline balance; foods won't digest. They can't. Nothing ever tastes good. One cigar — and you are logy as if you had smoked ten. Things you eat sour in the stomach, causing pain, flatulence. Your head aches, and you are constipated. Those are danger signals' Warnings that you are in immediate need of an antiacid! Heed them, and meet that need at once with a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A creamy, pleasant tasting spoonful will neutralize many times its volume in harmful acid. But take it for several days, till the whole digestive system is sweetened. Until the appetite returns, and that sourness is all dispelled, and every sign of over-acidity has disappeared.

Doctors endorse Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. So be sure you get Phillips' and not a substitute. All drug stores have genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in 25c and 50c bottles.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

For coughs due to colds, the best remedy that money could buy can easily be mixed at home. It saves money and gives you the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle, and fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. It's no trouble at all to mix, and when you once use it, you will never be without it. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children really like it.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes the inflamed membranes. At the same time, part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes, and helps the system throw off the whole trouble. Even those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics, are promptly ended.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded

AN "INCIDENT"

Of course, the wets are making a great deal about that Wiley case in Chicago.

It tends to expose and discredit the operation of our prohibition laws.

Mr. Wiley lived in an apartment house that was blessed with a janitor who made good beer.

Probably it should be called the best of beer because it was not made with an eye on profits but solely in good fellowship.

Anyway the janitor was arrested. Of course that was right. The janitor should have been arrested. He must go to jail because if janitors are permitted to make beer what is going to become of the bootleggers?

When everything is opened up on this prohibition matter—if the public can stand the odor—we will likely find that bootleggers have sleuths out to discover goodhearted janitors and complain to the prohibition enforcement officers who arrest the janitors but leave the bootleggers alone, safe and secure in their excellent profits.

Yes, there can be no complaint about the janitor's arrest. He didn't even own a gun.

And it is so easy to arrest a janitor who cannot hand out a slimy bribe to save himself. Arresting a bootlegger is a dangerous business and unprofitable. It is like killing the goose that lays golden eggs.

Now when Mr. Wiley heard that his janitor was arrested it sounded like a profanation. Who could be so cruel as to arrest this simple janitor? But when he heard that the court had actually imposed a prison sentence he hastened to see if his senses were not deceiving him. Wiley wasn't yet aware of the fact that reason is often a thing quite unknown in the enforcement of the prohibition laws. He was sure that when he explained to the officers of the law how innocently the whole thing had started they wouldn't put the janitor behind the bars. But Mr. Wiley, with one of those records in the Meuse-Argonne sector that brought him a medal and a public citation, was to learn something about reason, sense, fanaticism and the fangs of the law.

He still cherished the old notion that truth and honesty were somehow or other valued as virtues in the administration of the law, which is true enough, but have little relation to prohibition. So he told how he asked the janitor to try his skill on a batch of home brew that was stewing and with which Mr. Wiley had never had good luck.

What an opportunity for an Anti-Saloon leaguer! No sooner did Mr. Wiley speak these facts than the assistant federal prosecutor—who later was found at his desk with the clip sheet of the Anti-Saloon league before him—jumped to his feet and demanded of the court the arrest and imprisonment of Wiley for conspiracy, yes, nothing short of the grisly and monstrous offense of conspiracy.

And Wiley staggered around, not from any homebrew, but from the fact that without dreaming of committing such a thing, he finds now that he is charged with an infamous offense, a terrible crime, an unforgivable outrage, a conspiracy. But why stop at conspiracy even though the term for that is long? Why not charge treason and pray for an execution?

They threw Wiley in jail with the janitor for a while but the American Legion got busy and he is now out on a thousand dollar bond and the Crusaders, an organization devoted to the great job of getting us back to sanity, is undertaking the defense.

If Wiley were to walk home from the federal court he probably would pass a thousand apartment houses on the way.

Does anyone suppose that he could find a single one that didn't have somewhere in it evidence of a violation of the prohibition law?

Wiley is to be punished because he was honest, or shall we say because he was so guileless as to doubt that there could be such a hideous affair in our laws and their enforcement as to severely punish a man for the things he did.

And prohibition is tottering on to its ruin because of these constant inequalities in enforcement, the big fellow preferred and the little fellow punished, and the gaping injustices in the law itself, creating crime in the mere possession of malt beverages although the ownership of grape beverages is nothing but a virtue.

THE RETURN OF ROMANCE

Three shipwrecked sailors rescued recently from Cocos Island in the South Pacific may thank their lucky stars for yeast cakes and an adventurous traveler seeking the out-of-the-way spots of the earth.

After being marooned six months on this deserted island, they were discovered by Julius Fleischmann, yeast scion, while adventure bound on his yacht Camargo.

Unlike Robinson Crusoe they were not blessed with ship's stores and abundant provisions which would permit them to live in comparative comfort for a period of years.

But like Crusoe, they exulted in their deliverance from the sea and the feel of a continent under their feet. Like him, they may have felt their life had reverted to the primitive and that there was the possibility of continuing it with increasing comfort as man's ingenuity asserted itself.

Shipwrecked on a deserted island! What romance! Lords of the manor; or kings or emperors over the whole country of which they had possession! What a tale to pass on to the folks back home.

But their romance was short-lived. No food was there but coconuts, fish and wild pig. Coconuts and fried pork were a tough proposition for one of these castaways who had broken the lower half of his set of false teeth. Besides coconuts are fattening and make one lazy.

Storms and rain come and there is no shelter. The coconuts disappear, the wild hogs grow wilder and the fish more wary. Romance disappears and the fight for life begins.

Averting what might have become a tragedy, yeast, magical yeast rose up and saved them. It brought color to their cheeks, sparkle to their eyes and renewed energy to their flabby muscles. But it came in yacht form equipped with modern wireless. After discovering their trails a wireless from the Camargo to the American naval base, Canal Zone, brought speedy assistance and rescue. Three happy, but wiser sailor men came back to civilization.

Romance? Yes, but modernized. For hardly had the United States cruiser which effected their rescue dropped Cocos Island below the horizon than movie rights and talkie contracts were sold. No story of adventure shall pass these mariners' lips except at so much per word or per lineal foot of film.

Like Crusoe again they have gained "as complete a victory over their conscience as any young fellow that resolved not to be troubled with it could desire."

NEW YORK AND ITS FORESTS

New York, by constitutional amendment receiving a large majority at the hands of the people, has embarked upon a definite system of reforestation involving an expenditure, over a period of eleven years, of 19 million dollars.

The plan has been carefully prepared over a period of years. Cut over, nearly worthless lands in 16 of the 62 counties of the state, will be tied into one vast forest reserve, including much of the Catskills and Adirondacks country.

This program is more farreaching than a matter of growing trees. It makes certain the preservation of great water sheds necessary to provide wholesome water. At the same time it tends to prevent floods. Forests are necessary, the state authorities believe, and the people have determined, as a great equilibrium to preserve and maintain other conditions of nature that are vital to our existence as we now have it. Of course, the recreational and scenic value is not to be overlooked.

There was a split among the Democratic leaders who govern New York because the presented policy permits the state to cut and sell mature timber as the demand arises. The sentimentalists led by Al Smith were in favor of keeping the forest forever unacquainted with the axe, a lovely idea but not practical, and not good for the forest either.

The Football Expert again did well on his predictions last week. Out of eighteen games selected, he clicked correctly fifteen times. On two his guess was bad. One ended in a tie.

To date his record is 42 wins, 9 losses and 3 ties. Which, in these days of pessimism and such, is a good record. He's about 82 per cent correct.

When Theodore Dreiser opens his mouth, something interesting usually happens even if it may not be so very intelligent. Recently he got into a miner's dispute as one of the umpires.

One of the witnesses was a 26 year old lad who had gone to work in the mines at the age of nine.

"Back in 1918," said the miner, "I made as much as $500 a month, and when I got my $500, I went on a big spree until it was all gone."

Five hundred a month . . . 1918 . . . well, that would make him just thirteen years old at that time.

Something seems to be a trifle wrong somewhere.

DRUNKARDS

"Drunk," said the monarch with a sneer,
"Drunk as a fool on rum and beer;
Behold a man at last destroyed
By what his palate has enjoyed."
And the gay clown in motley said:
"Wine is not all that turns the head,
Not all the brains that cease to think
Are sodden by the fumes of drink."

"Fool," said the King, "woulds't tell me then
That you would sneer at sober men?"
"Yes, sire," replied the jester wise,
"Sneer at them, pity, and despise
When they in fortune's favoring hour
Grow arrogantly drunk on power.
They, too, at last themselves destroy
By the one thing they most enjoy.

"Money and power are deadly stuff;
Few men know when they've had enough.
By them the noblest minds are dulled;
The voice of conscience strangely lulled,
The finer instincts put to rout.
Yes, sire, beyond the slightest doubt
The thirst for power makes even kings
Do many savage, senseless things."

Looking Backward

TEN YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Nov. 8, 1921

The first snowstorm of the season, accompanied by a drop in temperature and high winds, bringing a miniature blizzard, struck Milwaukee that day.

Miss Alice E. Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bradley, Ironwood, Mich., and John F. Bartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bartman, Appleton, were married the previous Thursday in Christ Lutheran church at Menominee, Mich.

A son was born the previous Sunday to Mr. and Mrs. William Steiner, Wiemar-st.

A daughter was born the preceding Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gamsky, Fourth-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sager and daughter, Tillie, and Harold Sievert had returned from a visit with West Bend friends.

Fred Hoffman, Louis Hoffman, and Roland Wuerger had returned from Shiocton where they had been hunting rabbits.

Mrs. Roy Menning left the previous Sunday for Chicago to meet her husband who was to return from Kansas City, Mo., after a business trip.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Tuesday, Nov. 13, 1906

Thomas Gallagher had purchased a new launch at Oshkosh, which was to be shipped to Appleton the next spring.

J. W. Schempf returned that morning from a few days' visit with friends and relatives in Watertown.

Ned G. Heisler was an Oshkosh business visitor the previous day.

A. O. Soule had been in Grand Rapids, Mich., for a few days on business.

Miss Lillian Whiteney, Columbus, was spending several days as the guest of Miss Katherine Kutler.

Personal Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author

ELECTRIC SHOCK FROM HOUSEHOLD CURRENT

A lay friend writes:

"It is a too common fact that voltages of 110 to 120 in household circuits are extremely dangerous and often cause death to people receiving shocks of such low voltages. Dr. Horatio B. Williams of New York offers an explanation for such deaths. He says that within recent years medical scientists have learned that electricity under the pressure of a very low potential, often much less than 110 volts, affects the heart, causing a sort of tremor or wavering in its usual contraction, which physicians call fibrillation. When the current rent passes thru one part of the heart this fibrillation occurs without interfering with the circulation; but when the current passes thru another part of the heart, the circulation stops at once, and in all large animals death usually follows. Dr. Williams further discusses factors influencing conductivity of the skin, also conditions under which dangerous electric shocks are given to people touching electric household appliances. You will find Dr. Williams' article 'Danger from Low Voltage Electric Shocks' in science news of Science-Supplement, Vol. 74, No. 1914, issue of Sept. 4, 1931."

A large share of such fatalities occurs in bath rooms. I hate to draw the moral, but candor compels me to say this is another contraindication for the wet wash. However, if you simply must wallow in the tub, try to have no truck whatever with electric appliances, gadgets, switches buttons or cords while you're in such a low state of resistance. Better finish your scrubbing in the dark than reach up to turn on the light while you're all wet or even your fingers are wet.

If the pathology is as Dr. Williams describes it, one wonders whether massage of the heart would not save such a victim, if it were applied promptly on discovery of the tragedy. Massage, that is, thru an incision under the border of the ribs.

Today I saw a tragic story in the paper. Two sisters out for a swim in rough water. Something happened to the older sister and she became helpless. The younger one, thirteen, tried to drag her onto a rock but her strength was not sufficient and the girl slipped out of her grasp and drowned. Her body was brought ashore 40 minutes later. A doctor pronounced her dead. That was the end of the story.

It should be obligatory to carry out efforts at resuscitation for at least two hours in every instance where a person is rescued from submersion within an hour after sinking. Artificial respiration by the prone-pressure method, with inhalations of 7 per cent carbon dioxide-oxygen if an inhalator bag is available, should be carried out from the instant the body is brought to the surface, and never interrupted even for a few seconds, till the minimum two hour resuscitation effort is finished or the victim revived. Heat should be applied to the body by whatever means may be available. If a doctor is present he may inject adrenalin or other stimulant into a vein or directly into the heart.

Whatever may have been the practice or custom in the past, and whatever may be the limit of submersion without loss of life, we cannot say we have given such a victim every chance unless we follow some such rule as this.

The doctor in such a case ought to keep on trying even when all hope is abandoned. Especially where a young life is the stake, the doctor should be the last to surrender the body to death.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Accomplices Take Notice

Dr. Brady is always pleased to hear from physicians of good standing who are employing any special methods discussed here. He does not care to hear from quacks, clinic racketeers, drugless healers or other "paths" or cultists. A physician of good standing is one who is a member of his local medical society.

Gasoline For Foot Itch

I tried your gasoline treatment for foot itch. In three applications it put an end to the trouble, which had resisted many other remedies for more than a year. (K. W.)

Answer—At least it is harmless. The toes and sole of affected foot should be immersed in a pan of ordinary gasoline (never ethyl gas) for not more than half a minute, once a day for not more than three days.

How to Make Husband Look Better

A short time ago I wrote to you about my husband's trouble . . . he tried out the method you give in the booklet, "The Constipation Habit," and now he rarely takes a pill, but best of all he feels better than he has felt for years and he looks a lot better, too. (Mrs. W. M.)

Answer—I should think some of the dope in the ubiquitous pills which wiseacre Americans consume with such insouciance might ruin any good looks the customer has. But why does your husband ever take even an occasional pill or physic? If one can keep alive and well a month without such aid, one can go forever without it. That's the theory and principle on which I based the booklet, "The Constipation Habit," which any reader may have on request. Inclose a dime (not stamps and a stamped envelope bearing your address.

No Bad News

Dr. Brady begs many correspondents who ask embarrassing questions to excuse his silence. If he does not feel he can give helpful advice or information or good news, he prefers to pretend he didn't get your letter at all. Of course it happens some times that he really never received the letter you sent him, But in all such cases he refuses to commit himself, on the ground that it might tend to make the correspondent unhappy.

Child With Tonsils And Adenoids

Daughter 3½ years old recently had double mastoid operation. Doctor says she must now have tonsils and adenoids removed. A friend advised me about diathermy . . . (Mrs. A. M.)

Answer—Which is not suitable for children under 6 or 8 years of age unfortunately.

The Tinymites

By Hal Cochran

THE sight of Morro Castle was a very thrilling one because none of the Tinies e'er had seen a place like that before. Said Coppy, "It's just like a fort. To visit it would be real sport." And then the big boat landed and the whole bunch went ashore.

"That is the first place we will go," the Travel Man replied. "I know that you'll enjoy the visit. I will take you 'way up top where we can gaze out on the sea. The sight's as pretty as can be. But now let's find an eating place. That's where I'd like to stop."

A little restaurant nearby loomed up and caught wee Clowny's eye. "Ah! There's a dandy place," said he. "They have fine chili, too. The Cubans sure know how to cook, so let's step in and have a look. We've eaten lots of other things. Now let's try something new."

It wasn't very long until each Tinymite had had his fill. "And now for Morro Castle," said the kindly Travel Man. "We'll take a taxicab so we can see what sights there are to see. A cab is right across the street." To it the Tinies ran.

The Tinymites could hardly wait, so they rode on at quite a gait. At last they reached the castle and they jumped out to the ground. Arriving at the castle door, the Travel Man said, "I have four young travelers from U. S. A. who'd like to look around."

The guard said, "That is quite all right. You'll find this place is quite a sight. That passage leads up to the roof. Pass through it, one by one." They did, and on the roof they spied a monstrous cannon. Scouty cried, "Oh, I have read about that. It's the castle's sunset gun."

THE THEATRE ORDINANCE

Editor Post-Crescent—In an editorial published in your paper Nov. 3 you have expressed your opinion as to the inadvisability of passing the ordinance regulating the personel in projection booths of theatres. My intention is not to criticise you for the expression of your honest opinion. You have dealt in this case as you saw it and in the light you saw it. Therefore I feel you will grant me the same privilege and allow me to bring forward my reasons as I see them, as to why this ordinance should have been passed.

From the charges and counter charges made in the heat and passion of the controversy by both sides, it was almost impossible to gain a fair and honest perspective of the whole question. And the sad culmination of tabling it and the manner in which said tabling was accomplished is anything but a satisfactory, fair and just disposal of the question. The average American is a fairminded sportsman and anything that appears to becloud an issue rather than to dispose of it in a fair manner is not welcome to him. I will not discuss here the "sudden" discovery of "Roberts Parliamentary Rules" but will advance calm and fair reasons which I intended to give to the council before that body finally disposed of the question.

1. The projection machine operators maintained that as an added precaution for safety it is necessary to maintain one man for each projection machine. They did not ask for "additional men" as was broadcast but asked that the men be retained who, for some reason, were found to be necessary in the past and up to now. This fact had been boo-booed and ridiculed but at no time disproved. Who should be more competent to know and more acquainted with the uncanny tricks of an apparatus and its contents than the workman who handles it? It was a warning cry it was a plea to common sense. No intention whatever to injure the business of the theaters; just a fair attempt to retain the same competent safety measures they had heretofore enjoyed. It may be true that the modern booths as regulated by the Industrial Commission are fire proof, but a conscientious employer will also be vitally interested in the protection of life and limb of the employee within that booth, and one man at each machine is beyond any reasonable doubt the best precaution against a possible catastrophe. But, you say, this is a matter between employer and employee and why not let them settle it among themselves. You further say it would be class legislation pure and simple, and the council should now be involved in it. To both of these arguments is one combined answer. It depends entirely upon the disposition and character of the employer whether or not a fair and human settlement can be made. Thank God we have many employers who are guided by fair and human conscience. Were the theatre interests in the hands of such characters the attempt, at present, to eliminate one man and leave the operation of two or more machines in the hands of one would not be tried almost generally throut the United States.

As to class legislation let me point to the "Workmans Compensation Act" of 1913. This act before and after its passage was denounced as one of the most unfair, cruel and imposing piece of legislation ever imposed upon one class of our people in favor of another class. Dire ruin was predicted for all industries and yet there is no other act to my knowledge that has become a greater blessing to human kind than this very act, a blessing not only for the workmen but also for industries. It has been followed in nearly every state of our great Union. And what is law, what is legislation if it is not a rule of human society to prevent harm and injustice to be perpetrated by the strong against the weak? And has not our council passed safety measures before? Why five minutes after the theater ordinance was tabled on the grounds that it was a measure for the state legislature and not for the council, another safety ordinance was passed which is not covered by statute, imposing upon every farmer who might sell milk to the city of Appleton a 50 cent inspection fee per cow to be tested for abortion. You see that consistency in these matters is not exactly a virtue of the council.

2. There is also a moral side to this. To create a smoke screen in which the ordinance could be cleverly enveloped, the theater interests charged that this was nothing more or less but a bold attempt on the part of the projection machine operators to maintain and employ men who were superfluous so to speak. The present depression was used as a cover, as an excuse to cut down "unnecessary" expenses. Crocodile tears were shed over the dire financial crisis the theaters had to go through. Now every one knows that our American public is pleasure loving, whether it can afford it or not, and the crowds that can be observed most any evening going in and out of theaters testify to the fact that here is hardly an experience in slack of business and yet the admission fees today are identically the same as in peak times. I do not condemn people that go to theaters. A change menu to get away from the dreary every day life is good for human beings. But I do not believe the theatres are suffering very much now. I am fairly well acquainted with business conditions in Appleton in industries as well as mercantile and I know they have suffered tremendously and yet hear what some of them are doing: One big industry in our city has taken on 30 additional men in the last 6 weeks not because it needed them, it had a full and complete mill operating staff, but because it wanted to give jobs to such unfortunates who had none. And remember a new man is always a liability in industry. Until he is thoroughly broken in, which may take months, he is unproductive and an added hazard as to injuries. And this industry has cut its product as to sales price to the very bone just to be able to stay on the market. The work is divided up among as many as possible I know of another small plant that was forced to enter on the red side of the ledger for the last 3 years and yet he dreaded to lay off his loyal men who have stayed with him in good times. With a lump in his throat he confessed to me he would be forced this winter to finally lay off his men because he was unable to get further credit. Dear friends those are deeds, although not advertised, that so far overshadow every attempt at charity that there is no comparison. Had the rest of our business houses and industries not suffered more from the depression than the theaters we would be living in a paradise. Our industries in spite of the handicap take off indigents from the city's pay roll your theaters attempt to onload at least 5 families to the mercies of charities. My voice may not be strong enough to convince every one but surely I'm not going to hide or dread the wrath of such people who ruthlessly would crush underfoot any obstruction to their greed. There is something radically wrong with our social order if it permits such things to happen.

Sincerely yours,
PHILIPP VOGT.

FORMATION OF NEW CHOIR IS CHURCH PLAN

Mrs. LaVahn K. Maesch to Be Director of Presbyterian Organization

A quiet week—that almost rivals the inactivity of the summer period—faces Appleton churches this week.

A new choir, with Mrs. LaVahn K. Maesch as director, will be organized at the Presbyterian church at 7:30 Tuesday evening. On Friday the Rev. R. A. Garrison and two or three laymen will attend a men's conference of the Winnebago presbytery at Stevens Point. Mr. Garrison will be on the program, speaking on Spiritual Emphasis. The Woman's Missionary society meet Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Garrison's sermon subject Sunday was Spiritually Minded.

The Rev. Ernest Hasselblad preached at Riverview sanatorium Monday evening, and members of his church provided music. A Study of Christ in Art will be the subject of the midweek devotional period on Thursday evening. Sunday morning two students of the University of Wisconsin, Miss Betty Wright and Drexel Sprecker, talked on World Peace, and in the evening Mr. Hasselblad presented a Study in Friendship.

The annual mission festival of Zion Lutheran church will be held Sunday, with three special services, English at 9 o'clock in the morning and 7:30 in the evening, and German at 10:35 in the morning. The young people met Monday evening. Sunday morning the Rev. Theodore Marth preached on King Solomon's admonition to the people of his time and all times, "Give me, my son and my daughter, thine heart."

Sub-District Rally

A sub-district rally of Sunday School and Christian Endeavor young people of Evangelical churches will be held at Center Sunday. The Rev. G. H. Blum will preach the sermon at the dedication service at Dorchester Sunday evening. The Rev. Lester Thiel, a former Appleton boy, is pastor of the Dorchester church. The Merciful was the sermon subject at Emmanuel church Sunday morning, when new members were received. In the evening Russell Wichman gave an organ recital.

Using the text, "Blessed are the peacemakers", Dr. J. A. Holmes preached a world peace sermon at the Methodist church Sunday morning. He pointed out that Jesus, born when his country was in revolt and there was much talk of war, maintained a spirit of peace. Today, when the world is full of talk, he advised holding to the ideal of peace among men. He likened the world to a great symphony orchestra, where men of all nations interpret the music in the same way and play in perfect harmony. The Fireside Fellowship group held a joint meeting with Oneida young people in the evening, with Dr. Holmes preaching on Conservation. The T. M. T. M. class gave a party Monday evening, and the missionary society met Tuesday afternoon. Friday night the Wesleyan Players will present two one-act plays at the church. Six members of the Methodist church and one from the Baptist attended a young people's conference in Milwaukee Sunday.

Missionary Lectures

The Rev. J. C. Koenig, missionary from India, gave a lecture at the special missionary meeting conducted by the Brotherhood of St. John church Monday evening. The pageant, "The Way to Help the Heathen," was presented. A chicken dinner will be given Thursday evening. The Rev. W. R. Wetzeler preached on Walking the Christian Way Sunday morning.

The Rev. A. Krampe of the Mission house at Plymouth will address the consistory of First Reformed church Thursday evening. The Missionary society will meet at the home of Mrs. Christ Fahley, Hortonville, Wednesday evening. The Ladies Aid Thursday afternoon, and the Christian Endeavor Friday evening. The Rev. Ernest Franz preached on A Child of Peace Sunday morning.

Catholic churches have received notification of the campaign for funds for the Catholic university at Washington, D. C. A collection will be made throughout the Green Bay diocese on the last Sunday in November. A play, "The Judson's Entertain" was given at St. Joseph hall under the auspices of the Young Ladies Sodality Sunday. Christian Charity was discussed by the Rev. Henry C. Head, diocesan director of the Holy Name society and of the Catholic Apostolate, at the fifth annual banquet of the Holy Name society of St. Therese church Sunday. The Rev. J. Westenberger, diocesan director of parochial schools, was the speaker at the breakfast of the Holy Name society of St. Joseph church Sunday morning.

Church Vestry Meets

Preaching on Left Handed Men, Sunday morning at All Saints church Dr. L. D. Utts suggested it would be wise to give the weakened left hand some practice along the lines of stimulating employment and church activities, thus giving it strength. Two confirmation classes and the vestry took corporate communion and held a breakfast Sunday morning. The vestry met Monday evening.

Dr. H. E Peabody talked on peace at the Young People's Fellowship group of the Congregational church Sunday evening. The moving picture service was featured by "Ramona". The C. Y. W. and Deaconesses met Tuesday afternoon.

The annual mission festival was held at the First English Lutheran church Sunday morning, with the Rev. F. C. Reuter preaching.

A monthly congregation meeting was held at St. Matthew church Monday evening, and the Ladies Aid will meet Thursday afternoon.

Members of Trinity English Lutheran church attended the fall rally of missionary societies of the northwest synod in the Fox River Valley Sunday afternoon and evening at Oshkosh. The chapters met Monday evening.

The Rev. T. J. Sauer preached on Our Duty Toward God and Government at St. Paul church Sunday morning, and the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer on Christian Education at Mount Olive church.

The theme of the service at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, was Adam and Fallen Man.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

TWIN COWARD-MAKERS

Vulnerability, like conscience, makes cowards of many Contract players. It is, of course, correct that with the added dangers which winning a game bring in the way of increased penalties for failure to make contracts, players should feel well assured of their ability to make any contract they undertake. On the other hand, the fact that they are liable for double penalties for failure to complete a contract has not changed in one particular the values of the cards they hold, although to watch the timid tactics of many players you would feel that this were true. A Contract statistician has figured out, probably correctly, that when one side has won a game and thus become vulnerable, the chance for the other side to win the second game and thus restore the balance is not even, as would ordinarily be figured but is three to two in favor of the non-vulnerable side. This estimate takes into account expert play where timidity is not supposed to govern. It is unquestionably true that bold tactics by the non-vulnerable side frequently upset the plan of even strong vulnerable opponents. Take the hand below, played in a recent individual Masters' Tournament in which twenty-five holders of national titles competed.

North—Dealer.

North and South, not vulnerable.

East and West, vulnerable.

West		North		East
		♠ J 10 8 ♡ 10 9 5 ♢ Q J 10 4 3 ♣ 7 4
♠ 9 4 2 ♡ 8 7 6 ♢ A 9 5 2 ♣ Q 3 2	W	N S	E	♠ K 3 ♡ A K J 4 3 ♢ K 8 6 ♣ A J 5
		♠ A Q 7 6 5 ♡ Q 2 ♢ 7 ♣ K 10 9 8 6

The bidding on this hand was a reflection of the temperament of the players. Against the strongest defense, South as Declarer with spades as trump must lose two hearts, two diamonds and one club due to the lack of entries in the Dummy, unless his opponents aid him in the play. East, as Declarer, and playing a heart contract, has no difficulty in making three-odd, and four is a possibility against anything but the most accurate defense. Actually, in the bidding, however, East and West rarely reached the contract of three and at several tables South was permitted to play a contract of two spades due to the bugaboo of vulnerability.

At one table an East player who had disregarded the fact of the added dangers due to the scoring situation and bid four hearts was successful in making it due to faulty discarding by the South player. At the opening South had chosen his Singleton diamond for his lead. This was won in the Dummy with the Ace and then the hearts were drawn, East refusing the finesse. East then won a trick with the King of diamonds and played his two remaining hearts. It looked like suicidal play, but South had bid both clubs and spades and East read him for ten cards in the black suits. This was confirmed as the play progressed. South, seeing the Queen of clubs in the Dummy and reading East for the Ace and Knave, unwisely discarded three clubs on the hearts and diamonds. East, who had been following the discards with close interest, then led the Ace of clubs and followed with the five. South was forced into the lead with nothing remaining in his cards but spades, and so, after taking the Ace of spades, was compelled to concede a trick to East's King. East thereby made five hearts, two clubs, two diamonds and one spade for a daring vulnerable contract.

At some tables, after North passed East bid one heart, South bid one spade, West passed and North, hoping to shut out further bidding by East, bid two spades. This showing of strength which did not exist proved effective and North and South played the hand at two spades.

TODAY'S POINTERS

The distribution of a thirteen-card suit in the four hands is called suit distribution.

The distribution of four suits in a hand of thirteen cards is called hand distribution.

Mathematically the percentage of frequency of one corresponds to that of the other. In practice there is this important distinction:

Suit distribution determines the available supply of long suit tricks.

Hand distribution determines the available supply of short suit (ruffing) tricks.

SCOUT LEADERS MEET WEDNESDAY EVENING

"Educational Objectives" and "Scouting Objectives" are the two topics to be discussed at the second session of the leaders training conference of the valley council of boy scouts at the Y. M. C. A at 7:30 Wednesday evening. The first topic was prepared by Dr. F. W. Johnson, president of Colby college at Waterville, Me and the latter by Ray O. Wyland, director of education, Boy scouts of America. Approximately 40 scouters, including field commissioners, scoutmasters, troops committeemen and assistant scoutmasters are taking the course. The conference will continue for seven more weeks closing a weekend hike, probably to Camp Chicagami, valley council camp on Lake Winnebago.

CHINA DISCONTENTED BY LEAGUE'S FAILURE

Galesville—(AP)—Apparent indifference or impotence of the League of Nations in adjusting difficulties between Chinese and Japanese in Manchuria is causing widespread discontent in China, it is reported by a Wisconsin woman, Miss Mabel Danuser, general secretary in the Peiping Y. W. C. A.

Miss Danuser, who has been stationed in the Orient thirteen years, described troubled conditions in a letter to a relative here. Women's organizations of China are stirred by the inactivity of the league, and at their behest Miss Danuser drafted a message of protest to Geneva.

Chinese regard encroachment of Japanese unwarranted invasion, but fear they are military match for Japan, Miss Danuser revealed. So they are making extensive plans to resist their enemy with commercial boycotts

Miss Danuser told of flood relief activities of citizens of Peiping and the Y. W. C. A. Money and great quantities of clothing are being sent to stricken areas. Ordinary Y. W. C. A. work in Peiping is carried on much as it is in America, she related. In the city are four centers where girls are given dormitory homes and where there are rest rooms, club rooms and educational facilities.

PLAN CELEBRATION TO HONOR ROBERT BURNS

Galesville —(AP)—The seventy-five-year-old custom of honoring the Scotch poet, Robert Burns, at a curling bonspiel and festival will be continued here this year Jan. 20, 21 and 22.

The festival programs will be climaxed with the curling tourney which will determine the season's championship team among 60 members of the Galesville Curling and Burns club.

Had Eczema Very Badly. Unable to Work. Healed by Cuticura.

"I had eczema very badly. It was between my fingers, on the palms of my hands, and on my arms. It itched and burned and I could not put my hands in water for it made them very sore and the eczema spread. I was unable to do all my regular work, and there were days when I could not attend school.

"I had the trouble about two months before I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and four boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss N. C. Brown, R. 2, Box 109, Kokomo, Ind., Dec. 23, 1930.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

LOVED TO EAT, AND NOW SHE CAN!

Much of the suffering from so-called "indigestion" or acid-dyspepsia could be avoided if everyone could know what thousands like Miss Lilian Ralston have learned. This New York City business woman, who lives at 1160 Park Avenue, says:

"I suffered from headaches and heartburn after meals; couldn't sleep like I should; never felt right.

"For five years I experimented with medicines and treatments, until I learned about Pape's Diapepsin. I have used three packages now; have gained five pounds, and feel fine."

If you, too, suffer from sourness, gas, belching, nausea, headaches, dizziness, or pain after eating—either regularly or just at times, get a box of Pape's Diapepsin from your druggist. Then you need never worry again about what you eat.

A class of 50 candidates, secured since the beginning of the silver jubilee membership drive, will be initiated into Loyal Order of Moose at a meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 17, at Knights of Pythias hall. A banquet will be served at 6:30 after which the initiation ceremonies will take place. The work will be exemplified by the Fond du Lac degree staff. Homer Bowlby, Appleton, will be the speaker of the evening.

FOX, FUR BREEDERS PLAN ANNUAL SHOW

Wausau —(AP)—The American National Fox and Fur Breeders' association has chosen Virginia, Minn., as the location for its annual show Nov. 30 to Dec. 5, Dr. L. J. O'Reilley, association president, of Wausau, has announced.

Exhibitors as far away as Portsmouth, N. H. and St. Petersburg Alaska, have informed Mr. O'Reilley that they will send entries to the show. At the show held in Chicago last year, 460 foxes and 230 mink were on display.

In addition to competitive exhibits, silver, black and blue foxes, mink and cross foxes, beaver, nutrias and chinchillas will be displayed this year, Mr. O'Reilley said.

Mrs. Edith Bernhardt, formerly with the Fashion Shop, wishes to announce to her clientele that she is now at Grace's Apparel Shop, 102 E. College Ave.

Ability Of Child Based On Conduct

BY ANGELO PATRI

It is very much easier to excuse a child's shortcoming than to analyze and explain them for him. Over and over again one hears a teacher or parent say, "He is the brightest child in his class. He could stand at the head if he would only try."

Don't you believe that. Any child who could lead his class has done so, or is doing so. No child wants to be last, or even second, if he can be the first. This statement regarding the failing child works mischief.

In the first place it is used to excuse a condition. Instead of getting to work to remedy it we are content to say, "He would if he would. It is none of our business if he doesn't care to try." That is a cheap way for a responsible person to rid himself of a troublesome duty.

In the second place, or maybe we have two firsts for they seem equally important, the child gets into the habit of hiding behind the thought and saying, "I could if I wanted to. I just don't want to." Any time that he is defeated he can comfort himself with the thought of his inherent powers. That gets him nowhere but into the wishing class. That class supplies the world with a lot of shirkers. The supply far exceeds the demand for them now so we need create no more.

Make up your mind when a child fails that he failed because he could not help himself. The cause may be his own fault. Sometime but seldom, it is. Most of the time the cause lies outside the child. We have to find it or help the child to recognize it and remove it for himself. Then we teach him how to hold his own.

Just what makes a child seem lazy and indifferent? The causes are as numerous as the children. In one it is ill health, in another poor guidance and control, a bad bringing up we used to call it. In some cases fear is holding the child back. In others a poor preparation for the grade work makes him backward.

It is possible for a child to have a high I. Q. and still be a failure in school. He may have the power stored up but unless he is able to transform it and set it to work, it does him no good. We have to study the child in order to discover how we can help him. He is not to be pushed aside with the old refrain, "He could if he would."

Sometimes we ask a child to do work that is beyond him. "The teacher says he can do it," ought not to be sufficient for us in the face of the child's failure. Children do what they can do. Their conduct is the direct result of their thinking, in quality, quantity and kind. Read in the child's conduct what he is, then do what you can do to help him become better.

Don't use the child's weakness to bolster up your own case. It is idle to ask him, "Can you do this work?" He is bound to say he can. He believes he can. You have said so, his teacher has said so. Who is he to deny it? But his work denies it and by his work you shall know him and accordingly help him.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

WHERE have you been, Mrs. Thornton? Tell us about yourself. Sue could still hear the voice of Joe Dexter coming down the table. She hadn't been any place, She hadn't done anything except get herself arrested and marry Jack.

"She's done enough to make six best sellers—the real thriller variety," Jack answered for her instantly, although it seemed to Sue that even then there was an interim that was an eternity.

"Oh yes, I saw all the pictures in the paper at the time—at the time—" Joe had started to refer to the arrest of Sue's father but her social code wouldn't let her go that far. She let her voice amble off into air. "Some day you must tell us about your adventures. Have you ever been to Antibes? Or Madrid? Or Calcuta?'

"See here," Arnold Page interrupted. "You happen to be the only member of this group, excepting your rumble brother, who made his living by that sort of thing, who has ever done more than give Europe the once-over."

"I never made London. Sue and I are going some time. Next summer, perhaps," Jack's voice answered and his eyes were understanding, proud, loyal as they met Sue's.

"Next summer Why not spring? Everyone goes in the summer and bump into all kinds of people," Joe's voice wouldn't be daunted.

"That's why we're going." Jack came back dryly.

"You, Jack of all people! Remember the time you...." The reminiscences were on.

Arnold Page leaned toward Sue. "When you have lived in the world as long as I have, you don't mind the surface veneer. Joe's coated herself with pretty thick varnish. It will wear off as she gets older. Oh, by the way, that pretty little Becker girl is your sister isn't she? Corrinne. I believe her name is."

"Yes, she is," Sue answered. "Do you know her?"

"No, I don't. I've just observed from a distance."

Sue's heart turned a little. Why this was iodotic! Why should she care that a perfectly strange man, for whom she had absolutely no personal reaction, should apparently be more interested in Corrinne than he was in her? But she knew that that wasn't the reason that she was afraid. It was because she and Corrinne were both adrift in a social world in which they had not been reared. If Corrinne registered more strongly her chances of success were better. And Sue was merely afraid. That was all. She knew it very well. If she could believe that just one person in this outside world considered her interesting, without making comparisons, she would feel more at ease.

The ices had been served. The ivory candles were growing shorter in the gleaming candle-holders. Joe was giving the signal for the guests to go back to the drawing room for coffee. And contract. Sue shuddered. She wouldn't play!

She mover her foot over the thick, deep carpet, searching for her slipper. But it didn't come in contact with it. She tried with the other foot. It didnt find the slipper, either.

She had to stand up. Arnold Page was waiting for her. But where—where was her missing shoe?

MY NEIGHBOR Says —

A tablespoon of brown or white sugar added to roast beef gravy improves the flavor and color.

Never dry a fur coat which has been worn in a rainstorm near a radiator. Intense heat injures the skin. First remove the moisture with a dry cloth, then hang the coat in a cool place where it will dry.

Granulated sugar sifted over the top of a sponge cake before putting it into the oven gives it a rich brown crust when baked.

When baking custard pies have the oven hot for the first 8 or 10 minutes to bake the pastry quickly so that the liquid will not soak through.

KIND-HEARTED

London—Obviously, Charles A. T. Prideaux had a soft spot in his heart for animals and shellfish. He willed certain legacies to his wife, on condition that she would never eat foie gras, crab, crayfish, prawn, lobster, shrimp, eel, or "any shell or other animal or creature" without absolute proof of its human killing or death before cooking. He also requested that she should never wear any feathers, skin or part of any bird or animal. His wife, however, predeceased him.

SCHOOL GIRLS DO NOT NEED BEAUTY AIDS

BY ALICIA HART

Health means beauty for the very young, and if you are a high school girl here are some rules for you to follow. You do not have to worry about lines, wrinkles, flabby skin and sagging muscles and if you take good care of yourself and your skin while you are youthful, the chances are that you never will have to worry about them.

You need plenty of exercise. Walk to and from school if it's at all possible. Most schools offer gymnasium courses and be sure that you enroll for as many of them as you can. Sleep and rest is another important item; you should get eight or nine hours of sleep each and every night.

Your daily bath is vastly important. You exercise violently, causing the pores in your skin to throw off body wastes which should be washed away each day. See that your hands, neck and ears are meticulously clean.

Your hair should be shampooed every two weeks. Brush it each night with a clean brush It's an old and true rule that if you brush your hair conscientiously when you are young, it will be thick, glossy and luxurious when you are older. Avoid hot irons on your hair. If it's straight, train it into becoming waves with warm water and your fingers, or just make up your mind that it is attractive the way it is and leave it alone.

Keep your nails fairly short and very clean. They can be filed smooth and the cuticle should be pushed back with the towel each time after you have washed your hands. Never cut the cuticle around your nails and you probably won't need any polish. At least a high polish is in bad taste in the school room.

Be sure that you teeth are always very clean. Healthy, flashing white teeth are an asset to your appearance always.

You won't need make-up on your face. Rouge is out of place and so is a heavy coating of powder. They only tend to cover up your natural coloring and skin texture. If you are going to a party and you are afraid that your nose will shine, put a thin film of powder on it just for the evening.

The use of deodorants is important in your daily toilet. Select a mild one and use it every night under your arms after you have had your bath.

VITAMIN PILLS

New York —Here is good news both for children who dislike spinach and carrots and for parents who don't like to compel their children to eat them. The vitamin-producing material contained in spinach and carrots, known as carotene may soon be supplied in the form of powder or pills, according to the American Chemical Society. A new process has been devised whereby this substance can be produced in a highly concentrated crystalline form at low cost.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

FORGIVENESS CANNOT BE FORCED—UNHAPPY BRIDE MUST TAKE DEFINITE STAND

Dear Miss Vane: My story is too long to tell in full but suffice it to say that some time ago I was in a position to do something for the man I love—I arranged through a friend to get a new job for him and give him a fresh start when he needed it. Then I found out suddenly that the whole plan had fallen through and I hadn't the heart to tell my sweetheart the news. He was so happy at the prospect of a new chance in life that I couldn't bear to disillusion him so I kept on lying and finally he found out the truth. He says he will never forgive me for the way I acted, and he has parted with me forever. My heart is broken. I must get him back as I truly love him. What can I do? Shall I go to him, or write him a letter? What plan can you suggest?

PAULINE.

There isn't anything you can do to make up his mind for him. He must reach the decision by himself. Either his love for you will prove stronger than his resentment over the recent trouble—or else you will have to give up hope.

Evidently his trust in you has received a severe shock—so severe that he isn't able to feel anything for you but dislike at the moment. Whether or not the effect of your action will be permanent remains to be seen. You can't do anything to influence him.

If, in the past, you have shown yourself tender and kind and trustworthy, the memory of these qualities may soften his heart. That is all that can help you. You can do nothing now to persuade him that you are worthy of his trust. But there is a chance that when he's had time to consider the facts carefully and weigh your character in the balance, he will want to come back to you.

So for the present you must do that most difficult of all things—wait and try to wait patiently. You have been in the wrong from the first—however, well-meaning you were. You were weak rather than wicked and this fact should help your hero to forgive you. Truly you will only injure your cause if you attempt to make excuses and beg for forgiveness.

BROWN EYES: It's a pretty hard problem for a six-months' old bride to face, but you must take a stand about your husband's conduct right now, if you're going to do any good.

Either he is prepared to give up a life consisting of wild liquor parties, or he is prepared to give you up. Let it be one or the other. The point is that you can't either of you find happiness under the present circumstances.

However much you love the man, you're never going to know a second's peace of mind, if you're forced into living the sort of life you loathe. And he is not going to be devoted for very long to a woman who is constantly quarreling with him and begging him to give up his mode of existence.

You may be tempted to hang on hoping that he'll change some day—but actually the indications are that he will go right on being what he is, unless you make it clear that he'll have to do without you if he persists.

Your love for him will turn into real active dislike if you're forced to go on watching him make a fool of himself. You may be as gentle and tender and kind as you please, but you're only human and the constant pressure on your nerves will change you into something far from angelic. Then for both your sakes, make a definite ultimatum. Either he begins to cut out his parties and his incessant drinking or you prefer to go back to the life from which he took you. If he knows that you mean business, he may seriously take himself in hand and tary to adapt himself to a more normal healthy way of life. Make the effort now because now you are in a much stronger position than you will be in five years' time when your passive acceptance of conditions will have militated against your cause. Good luck to you.

BEST OR NOTHING

Astoria, Ore.—There's one beggar who thinks beggars should be choosers. He approached a prominent local merchant and asked to be staked to a meal. The merchant kindly escorted the man to a nearby cafe and told the owner to give him some breakfast. The cafe man had just completed fixing himself a luscious plate full of hot cakes and fried eggs. Feeling sorry for the hungry man, he took his own breakfast from the stove and placed it in front of him. "I won't eat that," said the beggar. "I want a big steak." He's not so particular now.

$5,000 SOUGHT BY RED CROSS IN CAMPAIGN

Annual Drive, Which Opens This Week, Continues to Thanksgiving

Neenah—A total of $5,000 is Neenah's quota in the annual Red Cross membership campaign which began Tuesday and will continue until Thanksgiving day. The money raised this year will go toward relief of unemployed. The directors Monday evening asked that each member subscribe $1 for membership renewals and an additional sum to assist in taking care of local unemployed next winter. It was pointed out that people who are working and have jobs must help those who have no work and have families to take care of. The information is contained in 1,500 letters being sent out from the local Red Cross office to present members. The letters also state that if the required sum is raised in the specified time, there will be no personal solicitation.

As information to those who subscribe as members and donate to the cause, the directors explain that 50 cents of each $1 membership goes to the National Red Cross for national work, while the remainder of the membership fee and all other donations is retained by the local chapter for work here at Neenah. The Red Cross office in the city hall building will open each morning at 9 o'clock to receive memberships and donations.

NEW DISTRICTS BRING PROBLEM IN 16 STATES

Many Questions to Be Settled in Areas on Reapportionment Issue

Washington —(AP)— Congressional reapportionment as a result of the 1930 census has taken the form of a large political question mark hanging over 16 states.

Failure of these states to redistrict has thrown into turmoil the election next November of 200 house of representative and electoral college members, and twice that number of delegates to Republican and Democratic nomination conventions.

The other half of the 32 states whose voting strength was changed by the population count have drawn the new geographical boundaries.

Generally, where states have lost representation, failure to redistrict means their entire congressional delegations must be elected at large as are senators. If representation is increased, only the additional members run at large.

To some extent that solves the house problem, but it gives little solace to worried party leaders. No such rule applies to selection of convention delegates, a great majority of whom are now selected by congressional districts.

Failure to redistrict would mean that at their winter meetings, the national committees of both parties would be faced by the task of deciding arbitrarily how many nominating delegates are to be selected.

This question abounds with difficulties because in many states a contest between rural and urban elements as a result of the population shift are involved. That situation draws in naturally the prohibition problem.

The efforts of three states — New York, Minnesota, and Illinois—to redistrict are tied up in courts. The outcome of these cases may also decide Missouri's representation. There a Republican governor vetoed the Democratic legislature's plan for dropping three from the congressional delegation.

The other states where no reapportionment action has been taken are Florida, Connecticut, Oklahoma, Ohio, Wisconsin, Texas, Kentucky, Mississippi, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Virginia and South Carolina.

GREEN BAY ZONING DECISION UPHELD

Appeal of City's Building Inspector Overruled by Supreme Court

Madison— (AP) —Albert Manders, Green Bay building inspector must issue a permit for the remodeling of the building at 615 S. Monroe-ave, Green Bay, for use as a dairy, the supreme court decided today in overruling his appeal.

The case involved a construction of the city zoning ordinance, although the validity of that legislation was not in question.

Manders appealed from a writ of mandamus granted by Circuit Judge A. F. Murphy to compel him to issue a remodeling permit to the owners of the building.

Until March 29, 1929, the property was used by the Modern Dairy company, which went into a receivership at that time.

The building inspector claimed that inasmuch as the zoning ordinance would not permit the erection of a new dairy, the owners, a Mr. Schaetz and others could not be permitted to remodel it for that purpose.

Judge Murphy's ruling upon the interpretation of the word "discontinuance" in the zoning ordinance was upheld by the supreme court.

Garner Looms as Speaker as Democrats Win Congress

Most Of Europe Plans To Observe Armistice Day

Sedatives administered by statesmen-medicos after conferring at Geneva, Locarno and London, have it is widely agreed, eased the ache somewhat, but on the whole it goes on, its throbbing undiminished.

Consulting specialists differ in their diagnosis. Some believe phases such as unemployment, economic depression and frontier misunderstandings will be chronic European ailments for many years.

Many consider the ache is merely one of the "morning after" variety and that there will be a definite turn for the better next year, with some improvement being shown, perhaps, shortly after Armistice day.

Europe takes varying views of how it should celebrate the day.

In Paris and London it will be a day of solemn remembrance for the sons and daughters who were left on the battlefields of Flanders.

Berlin, still bitter, will mark it with wrathful polemic and denial of the "war guilt lie" in the treaty of Versailles.

Vienna's attitude will be one of silence denoting contempt. Balkan capitals have ignored the anniversary altogether but this year Bucharest will depart from precedent and a two minute silence, ordered by the government, will be observed. Church bells will toll throughout the kingdom, the only sound to break the two minutes of stillness.

Italy prayed for its soldier dead on Nov. 4, the anniversary of the date marking cessation of hostilities with Austria, but tomorrow happens to be the 62nd birthday anniversary of King Victor Emanuel III and for that reason the Armistice date being observed solemnly elsewhere will be commemorated throughout the Italian peninsula with fiestas and music-making.

Nowhere does the commemoration bear a more sombre aspect than in Brussels where a blue flame will be re-kindled at the tomb of the unknown soldier and wreaths will be placed upon the graves of Belgian soldier-dead.

England, like Rumania, will observe a two minute silence and King George V will place a wreath at the foot of the cenotaph, monument to the heroes who fought for the British cause.

DREISER INDICTED ON ADULTERY CHARGE

Pineville, Ky. —(AP)— Theodore Dreiser, novelist, and Marie Pergain were indicted by the Bell-co grand jury here today on charges of adultery. The offense is a misdemeanor under Kentucky law.

The indictment charged the offense was committed at the Continental hotel here during the tour of the southeastern Kentucky coal fields by Dreiser and a committee of writers investigating the fatal outbreaks in the coal fields in the [illegible] controversy last summer.

Court attaches said the warrants would not be served unless defendants return to Kentucky, as a misdemeanor is not an extraditable offense. A fine of $10 to $50 on conviction is provided [illegible]. Dreiser left here [illegible].

New York — Former Premier Edouard Herriot of France never remains long out of the spotlight. His resumption of leadership of the radical-socialist party, the largest single unit in the chamber of deputies, makes his return to the premiership a strong possibility, according to today's cables.

He is called "the Roosevelt of France." Busy, bulky, bullet-headed, he has a finger in everything. "Agir, vouloir, creer,"—act, will, create—is his motto. His stubby briar pipe is as powerful a personal totem as Ambassador Dawes' underslung trade mark. He scatters ashes on Louis Quinze rugs. Lamartine, the poet and historian, guides his cultural and political destinies. He recently finished writing a life of Beethoven, to which he devoted years. He is steeped in the subtle lucubrations of Marcel Proust. As minister of public instruction, he went about with volumes of Andre Gide, Paul Valery and Balzac, reading diligently on trains and buses. "Who should read books if not the minister of public instruction?" he asked.

In the world war, he saved his party by challenging the defeatism of Caillaux. Caillaux came back in 1925 and helped wreck his premiership. The falling franc was the real cause of his downfall, and then the cunning Poincare pegged it down where it ought to be—thereby punishing Herriot's enemies, the bankers, but incidentally eliminating, for the moment, M. Herriot and his pipe. He went right along getting himself elected mayor of Lyons, third largest city in France, which office he held for 21 years. He was professor of rhetoric in the Lyons high school in his youth, and is known as one of the five greatest orators in Europe.

Dr. Raimund Nimfuhr, Austrian scientist, who has invented an airplane built like a humming bird, started years ago to figure out how much energy a gnat would use if it had a wing spread of forty feet. Ten horsepower was the answer. Today's cabled description of his wing-flapping plane, with no propeller, climaxes 29 years of patient study, based upon an effort to copy the methods of nature in bird flight. [illegible] pulsate or vibrate rapidly in response to a pneumatic mechanism.

Professor of aerodynamics at the University of Wien, where he obtained his doctor's degree, Dr. Nimfuhr wrote many books and theses on aviation meteorology. His book "How All Men Will Fly," an exposition of his bird plane theory, attracted widespread attention. In 1911 his theories were investigated by Herr Schwengler, chief of the Zeppelin works, and Herr [illegible] of the Fokker designing staff. They joined the directorate of the "Nimfuhrsch Segelflug Syndikat" at a time when Paris and American capitalists also were investigating. When his ideas were approved, they insisted upon a successful flight before advancing money, it required another decade, with money raised by public subscription to make the forthcoming test possible. Scientists here say the new bird plane is worth watching.

When Senator Claude A. Swanson went to congress in 1893 at the age of 31, he was loudly and widely acclaimed as the possessor of the handsomest handle-bar mustache in America. "There was a flutter of excitement in the ladies gallery as the handsome young Virginian took his seat," said one chronicler of the day. Thirty-eight years of wear and tear have somewhat dimmed the senator's lustre, but they have made him a potent force in the senate as he invokes a naval [illegible] administration-navy league argument. He is democratic ranking member of the naval affairs committee.

Senator Swanson was Woodrow Wilson's mouthpiece in forwarding the league of nations. He advocates the world court. He has [illegible] on world disarmament and advocated the signing of the London Naval pact in 1930, but he is a zealous advocate of an adequate [illegible]. He opposes the use of submarines. Working his way through college he went to [illegible], was made governor of Virginia in 1906, returned to congress and later became senator. His absorbing interest of the moment is the rehabilitation of silver in world currency.

"IMMORTALS" CULT REPUDIATES DEAD MAN—FOR DYING

Oroville, Calif. —(AP)— Brother Isaiah, leader of a cult of "immortals" repudiated a brother who "disobeyed God" and died, a coroner's jury was told here last night.

The cult leader testified he refused to bury the body of Martin Jordan, 59, the member, because that would have made it necessary for the colony to start a grave yard, which would not be in line with the contention of immortality.

Reiterating his assertion made on the death certificate, Brother Isaiah said Jordan died because he "disobeyed God" and the rules of the cult. The coroner's jury, however, found death had resulted from tuberculosis and pneumonia complications.

It Is Said--

That the rustic scene of the farmer driving his cattle down the dusky road at sundown has taken on a modern aspect on the quarry road out of Appleton. A farmer was seen Sunday, honking his herd before him as he drove them toward the barn in his automobile. When traffic approaches, the farmer honks the horn loudly and the cows scatter into the ditches until the motorist has passed. Instead of the familiar switching to hurry the cows along, the farmer gently whacks his cow with the bumper, swerving from one side of the road to the other until the whole herd is safely within the farm lane.

That this autumn is playing strange tricks with gardens when summer roses bloom beside full blown chrysanthemums. Mrs. Carl Smith, 516 N. Appleton-st, has a gardenful of large "mums", snapdragons and gaillardia and roses.

That a score or more of anxious parents spent a few trying moments last Saturday when someone rushed into a west end store and cried "Where are the parents of the children in this car out here? One of them is dying." A score or more of parents rushed from the store to their cars on the parking lot on N. Walnut-st. In one of the cars a little girl was crying. When the parents reached her they immediately took her to a doctor. She was merely suffering from a mild attack of cramps.

MARINETTE MEN SEEK GUARD COMMISSIONS

Harvey S. Borman and Warren N. [illegible], both of Marinette, were in Appleton last night where they appeared before an examining board for Wisconsin National Guard officers and wrote examinations for original appointments as first lieutenant and second lieutenant respectively. If successful the men will be assigned to duty with Co. A, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, Marinette.

Members of the examining board were Major Fred Hoffman, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, Capt. A. F. [illegible], U. S. Army, and Capt. Clyde P. Schroeder, Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, all of Appleton.

THREE MORE MEN JOIN APPLETON GUARD UNIT

Three new men have been added to the roster of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard according to Capt. Clyde P. Schroeder. They are Fred L. [illegible], Norman [illegible] and Peter [illegible] King. The company now has a strength of 67 enlisted men. Two recent promotions were Pvt. John Kerrigan to corporal and Cpl. Gordon R. McIntyre to sergeant.

PINCHOT MAPS RELIEF NEEDS IN HIS STATE

About $55,000,000 Required in Present Situation in Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Pa. —(AP)— Gov. Gifford Pinchot today told the members of the Pennsylvania legislature, called into special session to consider unemployment relief, that "no American, no Pennsylvanian can be allowed to starve" and that the state must raise approximately $55,000,000 to meet the present situation.

Twenty-three community chests in the state propose to raise $20,000,000 of this amount, he said, and the remainder must come from voluntary contributions to his proposed state commission on unemployment relief.

"The money subscribed will be used where needed without constitutional or other restrictions, except that none of it will be given as a dole in any form," the governor said.

"To give work is better than to give relief," he said. "Accordingly, the program before you is intended to provide work for the greatest possible number during this winter."

The governor said politics has no place in the present emergency and asked the legislature to do its task as quickly as possible.

He said that surveys had shown 900,000 persons, or one-fourth of the state's workers, to be unemployed. In addition a census of the department of public instruction showed 125,000 school children in the state who will need food during the winter.

Money to cover emergency appropriations, he said, would be provided by his proposed tax on cigarets on the basis of 1 cent for 10, and a tax on billboards at the rate of 3 cents per square foot plus an annual license fee.

Milwaukee—(AP)—Because of increased orders, 400 workers were recalled today at the Inland Steel company plant, E. G. Jones, superintendent, announced.

WALKOUT ORDERED AT MILWAUKEE THEATRES

Milwaukee — (AP) — A sympathy walkout of employes in Fox-Midwesco theatres of Milwaukee, effective at midnight Thursday, was ordered today by Milwaukee Local No. 164, International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes and Moving Picture Machine Operators of the United States and Canada.

The order, issued by the national headquarters of the union, affects 45 Milwaukee operators and several score musicians and stage hands Chester Mills, president of the Milwaukee local, said.

Theatre and union officials said no differences exist between the Fox-Midwesco corporation here and its employes. The nation-wide walkout, they said, was called following a disagreement between the Kansas City, Mo., operators' union and the Fox West Coast corporation over alleged discrimination against operators.

Fox officials said they believe the differences will be settled by Friday.

Appleton And Kaukauna High Football Teams Clash For Charity

WHITING FIELD TO BE SCENE OF BENEFIT GAME

Both Squads Have Impressive Records; Large Crowd Expected

LIKE the Army and the Navy who buried differences last season and played a grid game for the unemployment relief or for charity, Appleton high school and Kaukauna high school grid teams, will resume relations tomorrow, and charity again will benefit. The game is to begin at 2 o'clock at George A. Whiting Athletic field of Lawrence college.

The game was arranged several weeks ago by Kaukauna and Appleton high school authorities at the suggestion of Kaukauna and Appleton legion officers. Both Veterans' organizations offered their services in getting behind the game and making it a huge, successful charity project.

And in taking on a charity aspect it first was decided there be no passes or free tickets, that everyone except the players be made to put down 50 cents on the line for a ticket. Legionaires then went about selling blocks of seats to merchants and business leaders and in Kaukauna at least, the town is closing up at noon Wednesday and will flock to Whiting field.

Bus Donated

The bus in which Kaukauna players will come to Appleton has been donated by the Fox River Bus company; the football to be used in the game has been offered by the Conway Pharmacy, Appleton, and every effort is being made to cut expenses to a minimum by having services or material donated to the cause.

Besides having the charity aspect, the battle tomorrow will be one of the best football contests in many a moon at George A. Whiting field. Appleton represents the Fox River Valley league and Kaukauna the Northwestern Wisconsin league. Neither team is a contender for title honors but both have excellent chance of finishing in second place.

Kaukauna fans are enthusiastic about their team this year and they are coming here in droves to cheer the boys. Spirits are at an unusually high point because of the win over Oconto Saturday.

Appleton also has a worthy aggregation of gridders this fall who probably haven't appealed to local imagination much because they have been forced to play away from home so often. However, the squad is one of the best the local high school has had in several years. It won four Valley conference games, tied in two and lost but one, that to West Green Bay, Valley league champions.

Complete Drills

The Orange tonight completed drills for tomorrow's game and every man on the team, with the exception of Dave Dietrick, is ready for the starting whistle. Dietrick injured his shoulder at Marinette last week and is out for the remainder of the season.

Coach Shields will have three fine ends available tomorrow, at least two of whom are in good condition physically. They are Keller and Beck, both of whom have shown well on defense this season and also on offense. Bill Peotter is the third regular end but has been troubled with a bad knee which probably will be healed well enough to permit him to see action for a few minutes. Burton is a reserve end.

The tackle positions will be filled by Kreick and Webber, two boys who have played great ball all season and the guards will be Klein, an all-conference choice this fall, and Tillman of Merrifield. All have seen plenty of action. Center looks like Jack Bowers if his bad shoulder is O. K., while Frank Dean will be ready to fill the bill if Bowers isn't fit.

In the backfield Appleton will have a neat combination of youngsters but not many reserves. Joe Verrier will have to do the master minding tomorrow afternoon, Emmett Mortell gets the assignment as fullback and will do the punting. He is the Orange triple threat man and can run the ball, pass and kick with any player in the valley.

The halfbacks probably will be Krohn, a great ball carrier, and Rupple, a youngster who has shown very well this season in relief roles. Rupple will take Dietrick's place unless Coach Shields decides to use Vic Salm instead. Connie Frank, another half back becomes of age today and cannot compete in further high school sports.

Coach Paul Little of Kaukauna also has strong aggregation which will be primed to the limit to knock off the Orange eleven. If it can the folks down river will buy the boys the town. Greater pleasure hath no Kaukauna fan than to see Appleton walloped.

Reports from Kaukauna are that the two tackles are every bit as strong as those in the valley conference. They are Bodie and Nelson with Eslein a likely looking reserve. The two ends are Sager and Koch, two more chaps who showed fine football against Oconto.

The center of the line will be taken care of by Niesen at one guard and Vanevenhoven at the other with Weirauch tossing the ball from center.

There also is plenty of backfield material available, good passers, good receivers, good plungers and open field runners. Schuler plays the quarterback position, Judae and Kemp the halves and McCormick fullback. Some of the backfield reserves are Kuckelmeister, Ludke, Nek and Van Dycke.

The game is the last of the season for both schools and will see the boys giving everything. Kaukauna played its last game Saturday and will have two days less rest than Appleton which performed Thursday of last week.

Bob Wellen of the Tarpon team in the Knights of Columbus league is the big shot among Appleton bowlers this morning and perhaps for the remainder of this season. Last night, bowling against the Perch, Bob rolled a 221 in his first game. That was only a warm up, however for he started off with five strikes in the second game, hit a spare, followed with another and ended up with five more strikes for a total of 257 pins. He skidded downward a bit in the third game but at that managed to smash 208 pieces of maple and went home with a big 686 series.

However, Wellen almost lost his claim to high score for several other keglers pushed him hard. J. Brown of the Sturgeon rolled a 247 count and H. Otto cracked a 256, getting six strikes, a spare and two more strikes with a spare the best he could do in the last inning. Incidentally the Sturgeons rolled the high game of the evening, 1021.

Needles to say Wellen's team, the Tarpons, with Bob hitting in big league style, won three straight games. The scores were 860 to 768, 924 to 829 and 908 to 882.

The big scores turned in by Otto and Brown of the Sturgeons came in one game and helped the club to a win over the Halibut, the team's only win of the evening. Halibuts won the first and second games with the aid of a 146 to 0 handicap.

Pike won two more games to stay at the top of the league standings, the Trout being victims. The first win was by a margin of four pins, the second game went to the Trout with Millhaupt's 179, and the Pike won the third with Faas' 186.

Codfish won two games from the Bass to remain in the runner up position. The Bass lost the first game when two 115's were reported with P. Jone's average of 99. In the second game W. Keller blasted a 216 for the Bass which offset a 207 by Courtney of the Codfish and the Bass won by five pins. Codfish won the third game with R. Joyce's 180.

J. Schneider paced the Salmon to a three game win over the Whales with 192, 168, 172—532. Pickerels won the first game from the Herring and dropped the second but came back to win the third. J. Hamm had a 513 for the Pickerel and A. Sauter a 481 for the Herring.

Mackerel rolled an even 900 to give the Mackerel a win over the Haddocks. Then Dr. Lally burst forth with a 206 and again the Macks won. In the third game R. Mahoney rolled 176 to give the Mackerel their third win.

The old timers on the Bluefish team had trouble making their hooks behave and getting the aches out of their backs last night but managed to win one game from the Sharks. Doc Cooney got a 99 and John Morgan 94 but the team won the first game. Then Chief Prim slipped 73 and the Bluefish lost. In the last game a 92 by Cooney and 94 by Prim caused the Bluefish to drop the verdict by nine pins.

Bus Drivers won two games from the Office in Power company bowling recently at Arcade alleys. The Office won the first game with Van De Hey's 189 and dropped the last two, the third game by two pins.

Electrics won the first game from the Powers by seven pins. Bozek rolled 193 to give the Powers a win in the second game and Stillman's 191 did the trick in the third despite a 199 by Llewelyn of the Electrics.

Engineers won the first and third games from the Gas Department. Weller's 184 in the first game and his 190 in the third turned the trick for the Engineers.

Pines won two games from the Hickory, the first and third games. A. Clemons had 126 for the winners in the first game, H. Felt 127 in the second and 126 in the third. For the Hickory team, a 125 by M. Landis turned the tide in the only game the team won.

The Boys Are Doing Their Share-- Have You Bought Your Tickets?

Kaukauna vs. Appleton

Chaff 'n ChatteR

By Gordon R. McIntyre

IF JOE DOAKES or Oscar Zilch happened to suggest there was really no foolproof defense against the forward pass, it would draw little but a few hearty laughs. It's another and more interesting matter when Arthur Sampson, Harvard's able backfield coach, writes in the Harvard A. A. News:

"A close analysis of modern football quickly reveals that there is no perfect defense for the forward pass....

"In the days before the world war a defense for the pass was a minor problem....Coaches now spend hours in perfecting the execution of this play....and it is now necessary to impart several complicated systems for defending against the pass."

After noting the obvious advantages as well as shortcomings of an exclusive "zone" or "man-to-man" defense, Sampson goes on:

"With exceptional players the man-to-man defense will work well. Notre Dame has used it with good results. Cornell has used it for years but in Cornell's case it can not be said to have been entirely air-tight.

"Recently a combination of these two defenses has become popular. Many coaches now teach this style and, although it is still full of loopholes, the secret of its success lies in the fact that it is difficult for the offense to discover just what the defensive assignments are in the backfield.

"What makes the defense against the pass even more complicated is the diffulty in knowing just when a pass is coming. That was what made that Michigan pass go last year (against Harvard Newman called that touchdown play just after Michigan made its third first down in succession by rushing. Realizing the westerners were beginning to advance by means of an off tackle play, it was only natural that on first down, the Harvard team should think another running play was due. It was logical but Newman did the illogical and turned an apparent Harvard victory into a sudden and perplexing defeat."

Wood Proves Theory

Harvard, with Capt. Barry Wood directing such matters, has perhaps the most baffling passing attack in the east this season.

The Crimson has shelved most of its flashy laterals for forwards because it's most direct in gaining the objective—the opposing goal—and because Barry is the best quarterback passer since Benny Friedman was heaving 'em to Benny Oosterbaan for dear old Michigan.

On the second or third play of the game against Army, Wood completed a 50 yard pass to Bernie White. Barry's tosses to Jack Crickard and White later paved the way for two Crimson touchdowns.

Texas couldn't stop Wood's passes altogether and the Longhorns came east with a great reputation for checking the air game.

Three of Harvard's five touchdowns against Texas were due largely to passes. Yale for the last two years has been unable to stop the Crimson's "ace of the air."

Time Passes

There should be some conclusions to be drawn from this but maybe the list speaks for itself. It comes under the heading "RELEASED" in the latest bulletin from Secretary J. H. Farrell on minor league baseball dealings:

By Toledo—Carl Mays.
By Rochester—George Sisler.
By Hollywood—Henry Severeid.
By Los Angeles—Jess Petty.
By Portland, Ore.—Hugh McQuil[illegible]

By Eastern League—Umpire Rube Marquard.

BIG TEN PLANS FOR CHARITY GRID GAMES

Chicago —(AP) —Athletic directors of the Western conference will meet in Chicago next Sunday to arrange the schedule of post-season charity football games authorized by the faculty committee on athletics.

The directors also probably will consider the question of whether the games will count in the final championship standing. The coaches are said to be opposed to counting them in.

Nothing has been done toward making the schedule, but it is expected that Northwestern and Michigan will be matched, with Purdue meeting Ohio State, Illinois meeting Minnesota, Indiana tackling Wisconsin, and Iowa and Chicago mixing. Under this arrangement none of the pairs would have met during the regular season.

SHIOCTON HI-Y CAGERS BEATEN IN TWO GAMES

Shiocton basketball teams lost two games here Saturday afternoon with members of the Y. M. C. A. clubs. The Roosevelt Sophomore Triangle team beat Shiocton Hi-Y reserves by a score of 34 and 2, and the Delta Hi-Y team defeated the Shiocton Hi-Y club by a count of 18 and 4.

The Sophomores scored 18 points in the first half of their game and 16 in the second half. The Delta counted only 4 points in the first period and 17 in the second, the game being interesting and fast.

CHICAGO — (AP) — The old, old rivalry between Chicago and Illinois, many battles of which were fought for the Western conference championship, will be renewed Saturday—with each seeking its first victory of consequence this season.

Chicago's football fortunes have been unhappy for the past six seasons and this campaign appears to be the most unhappy for the undermanned maroons. Illinois which won only one Big Ten game last season, that from Chicago, already has lost four league contests this year, and things seldom have looked so bleak around Champaign.

Since they started meeting in 1892, Chicago has won 16 games, the Illini 15, and three have been tied, including the famous battle in 1924 when Red Grange scored three touchdowns to offset the efforts of Austin McCarthy, the Thomas brothers and Zorn. The odds favor Illinois Saturday, but not by much.

Badgers Work Hard

Northwestern is figuring on taking Indiana in stride and Purdue is not much worried about Iowa, but Michigan, Ohio State and Wisconsin, are working busily for what promise to be tough assignments. The Buckeyes and Wisconsin meet at Madison, with a chance for a tie for second place in sight. Michigan will meet its neighbor, Michigan State college and a terrific tussle appears certain.

Michigan State, coached by Jimmy Crowley, one of the "four horsemen" of Notre Dame, has compiled a fine record this year, losing only to Syracuse, 15 to 10, and has the country's second ranking scorer, Bob Monnett, as its ace. The Wolverines were held to a scoreless tie by the Spartans in 1930.

Northwestern will have Harold Welden, its regular center, who was injured in the Ohio game, back on the job Saturday against the Hoosiers, as well as Reb Russell, should his services be required. Quarterback George Potter, however, has not yet recovered from injuries, and is a doubtful starter. The Hoosiers are hoping that something will happen as it did in 1927, 1928 and 1929 when they licked Wildcat elevens which rated far the best.

Purdue is taking it easy to avoid injuries, while Iowa is still working on a forward passing attack. Minnesota, which has a minor assignment in Cornell of Iowa, also is taking it easy, with Michigan coming up a week from Saturday.

VIKINGS TO CLOSE 1931 GRID SEASON WITH CARLETON "11"

All Monies Over First $150 Will Be Given to Local Charity

ALMOST forgotten, for the time being at least, in the excitement surrounding the Kaukauna-Appleton high school football game, Wednesday, is the Lawrence college charity game which will be staged here Saturday afternoon with Carleton college of Northfield, Minn., the opponent. Lawrence has offered to pay Carleton's guarantee and will give everything over the first $150 taken in at the gate, to charity.

The Vikings went back to drilling last night in a more or less easy manner while some of the bruises and bumps received in the hands of Carroll Pioneers Saturday at Waukesha healed. None of the boys reported serious injuries, it is said, excepting Collins who again had his nose injured and who played with a bruised arm that wasn't helped any by his latest experiences.

The Carroll victory has showed the Vikings they can do things in a fair manner if they try. They were accused of not being so good in their tackling and blocking during the first half Saturday, but did an about face in the second half.

Offensively they clicked off three touchdowns all of which showed steady, hard driving power and ability to follow the ball. They were given several new plays to add to their bag of tricks last night.

Carleton has been playing fair ball this season looking good against some teams and not so good against others. At any rate the team isn't as great, so it would seem, as it was a few season back when it was one of the greatest grid aggregation in the middle west. However, the Carls were good enough Saturday to knock off Coe College team 32 and 2. All of which certainly means something that bodes bad for Lawrence.

Saturday's game will write finish to the Lawrence 1931 grid schedule. The team has played five games so far and lost all but two with Carroll.

DEMPSEY WALLOPS THREE MORE HEAVIES

Des Moines — (AP) — Two heavyweights went to the floor, one for good, and a third warily kept his distance in four rounds of exhibition fighting with Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, here last night.

Tommy Davenport, 192, of Little Rock, Ark., did not attempt to force matters and was content to stay his two rounds in safety.

The Grid Fans Learn About George Joseph Melinkovich

BY FRANCIS J. POWERS
Copyright 1931

NOTRE DAME, IND.—(CPA)—Playing football for our larger universities has its educational advantages. Except for football the Pennsylvania university boys, who battled Saturday with Notre Dame in the stadium "Rock" built, might never have learned about Tooele. You pronounce it Two-ell-a, and it sounds swell when yodeled. Tooele is a town of 4,000 population located on the Utah flats some 40 miles from Salt Lake City and is the home of George Joseph Melinkovich.

Long before sunset last Saturday the Pennsylvanians wanted to consign George Joseph Melinkovich to some spot miles away from the Notre Dame campus, and Tooele should be just about the right distance.

George Joseph Melinkovich is Notre Dame's newest fullback and a stout fellow if you believe Mr. Heartley Anderson. "He's our third fullback of the season and the ninth since the start of the 1930 campaign," related Mr. Anderson, who is developing a strong flair for statistics. Anderson admits that Melinkovich is no incarnation of Jumping Joe Savoldi, but adds that "George Joe will keep opposing tackles and guards from taking catnaps, and since he's only a sophomore there's no use of any other fullbacks applying for a job before 1934."

Melinkovich—you can call him Mink is of Austrian parentage and it is probable that a few generations back his forefathers were serving in the legions of Emperor Franz Josef and chasing the grandpapas of Charlie Jackwhich and Joe Sheeketski up and down the Balkans. Which is another reason why football is such a fine game: They don't use bayonets.

Melinkovich is a splendid example of what the detailed and painstaking efforts of Notre Dame coaches can accomplish with a willing and sizable piece of football material. Coming from a small town, where he was the star ball carrier of his high school eleven, Mink knew little about blocking or the defensive phases of the game when he arrived at Notre Dame. But at the completion of last spring's practice he won the Frank E. Hering medal for pass receiving and was runner-up for the blocking, passing and kicking medals. A player can win only one medal in Notre Dame's spring practice, so Mink took a bow for his other achievements.

Although he weighs only 180 pounds and is fairly rangy, Melinkovich has terrific leg drive and is a fury on the weak side spinners the Irish use to saber an unsuspecting opponent. He also has a fast, elusive stride and is giving Marchie Schwartz a battle for ground-gaining honors. With his ability to pass and receive throws Mink needs a lot of watching.

In the class room Melinkovich is studying physical education and undoubtedly some day will join the army of Notre Dame men in the coaching profession. Between classes and football practices he is a "hasher" in Notre Dame's huge dining hall, and for his skill in balancing a tray loaded with roast beef and potatoes he is allowed to eat three squares a day. Mink is also a good track man and a bear on the tennis courts. Not bad for a boy from Tooele.

OLDER BOY CAGERS ORGANIZE SATURDAY

Five Older Boy basketball teams attended the Older Boy league organization meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday and indicated they would enter teams in the loop. They were Larry's Lunches, Delta Hi-Y, DeMolays, Roosevelt Soph team, and the Wolverines.

League play will start Dec. 1, it was decided. Another organization meeting will be held at 10:30 Saturday morning and all teams that wish to enter must be represented.

Other teams which have indicated interest in the league are Soph Triangles, Fourth ward Bears, Fifth ward, Sam Ornstein Specials, Vocational school and the Beta Hi-Y team.

Last year a league was organized and met with much success. The boys played two games a week during a regular schedule and then held a double elimination tourney, the winners of each playing for the Older Boy title.

Y. M. C. A. PLANNING HANDBALL TOURNEY

A handball singles tournament, single elimination, is being planned by the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. is has been announced by W. S. Ryan, physical director. The match will be held on Nov. 14 and handicap rules will govern play. A doubles tournament is being planned for later in the season.

JOE BIEBLS AND ZEP TRAURIG TO TOP FIGHT CARD

Boys Matched in September; Cancelled When Biebls Was Hurt

A fight that is expected to make the old armory hum, the fans sit on the edge of the chairs and go home talking to themselves, has been booked for the windup bout of the Americans legion's next amateur fight card, Thursday night, Nov. 19.

The two boys were matched to show here in September but Joe busted his hand on someone's skull just before the day of the fight and the bout was cancelled. Since then Biebl's hand has mended and every amateur promoter in the state has been after the boys.

But they realized they owed Appleton fans a bit of something for the cancelled show and decided they would perform here this month. Traurig has fought here real often and given a fine account of himself, winning a lot of friends.

Joe appeared here a couple years ago and didn't set so well. He has changed his style of fighting since then and now is as clever a 122 pounder as there is in the state. He had been fighting regularly this fall until he injured his hand and got in several great bouts at Camp Douglas last summer with one of the Oshkosh National Guard units.

Other bouts for the next show will be announced in a few days. Many new faces are to make their appearance, according to Matchmaker H. W. Miller.

CARNERA PAYS FINE; TO MEET LEVINSKY

Chicago — (AP) — Primo Carnera, Italy's biggest heavyweight, was due in Chicago today to pay a fine and begin training for his ten round bout with King Levinsky, the former fish monger, in the Chicago Stadium, Nov. 19.

Carnera has been under suspension by the Italian Boxing Union and the National Boxing association, which has a working agreement with the foreign group, for failure to fulfill an engagement in Italy two years ago. His representatives agreed to pay off the $1,350 fine, and the Illinois State athletic commission yesterday granted the stadium permission to stage the Levinsky bout.

Sports Question Box

A.—A matter of opinion. Pound for pound Fitzsimmons was the harder puncher.

Q.—Why does the rules committee insist upon keeping the point after touchdown in the rules?

Q.—What is a spit ball?

A.—A throw by the pitcher to the batter, the pitcher having previously expectorated on the ball. It has proved to be an effective way of pitching but it is unsanitary and unpleasant.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

FOOTBALL paid $300,000 for the new artificial ice-skating rink at the University of Illinois....It's for the recreation of the students rather than intercollegiate competition.... Michigan is the only other Big Ten school that owns its own rink.... Records unearthed by the Yale Daily News reveal that Nathan Hale was a football player.... if he had played at Rutgers the quotation might have been: "I'd die for dear old Rutgers and regret that I have but one life to give."....Art Sampson, backfield coach at Harvard, writes that there is no such thing as an adequate forward pass defense...for which he probably isn't sorry... having Barry Wood around.

Macks Set Record For Long Competition In Big Series

BY JOHN B. FOSTER
Copyright 1931

NEW YORK — (CPA)—Impending changes in the Athletics make it apparent that the Philadelphia team will not be able to continue in 1932 the record it has set in world series play, even assuming it is on the way to capture another American league pennant.

With the exception of one player, Joe Boley, shortstop, the Athletics have played through three world series in succession with infield and outfield intact—a sound tribute to their physical skill and ability, and something never done before. Boley played in the series of 1929 and 1930 but he acted only as a pinch hitter in the post-season battle.

As a team the Athletics have remained intact longer than the New York Yankees, who competed in the 1926, 1927 and 1928 world series. Only seven of the Yanks, aside from two pitchers, played through three successive series.

There have been many instances in major league baseball when a team that has won a pennant in one year has been unable to retain its strength and win in the year following. It has become more common since 1921 to find that condition almost completely reversed.

They have not won a championship since then. The Yankees won in 1931, 1922 and 1923 and repeated in 1926, 1927 and 1923. They have been succeeded by another three-time winner, the Athletics, with their record of success in 1929, 1930, and 1931.

JIMMY JOHNSTON OUTLINES FIGHTS FOR JACK DEMPSEY

New York —(AP)—Pack Dempsey's fistic future probably will be settled when the old Manassa Mauler comes here next month for a conference with Jimmy Johnston, head of Madison Square Garden's boxing department.

If Dempsey, now 36 years old, decides that his barnstorming tour has put him in condition for another comeback, Johnston is prepared to offer him two matches which might lead to a "shot" at Max Schmeling and the heavyweight championship.

Johnston said the Garden would not offer Jack any guarantees but an adequate share of the receipts for a bout in February at Miami, Fla., against an opponent drawn from a list of four leading heavyweights—Tommy Loughran, Johnny Risko, Paulino Uzcudun and Tom Heeney.

Loughran and Uzcudun, who are matched in a ten rounder in the Garden this Friday night, already have offered to sign blank contracts for a Dempsey match, donating their shares to unemployment relief.

If Dempsey makes a good showing in the south, Johnston is prepared to match him against Jack Sharkey here in May or June although there is some doubt whether Sharkey would accept such a match. Sharkey already feels that by his showing against Carnera he is entitled to meet Schmeling for the championship.

Granting that the Sharkey-Dempsey match could be made and a resulting Dempsey victory, the former title-holder would be paired off against Schmeling in a title bout in September.

Thus Johnston has outlined his plans for Dempsey but nothing definite can come of them until Dempsey arrives here for his conference, probably in mid-December.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS ON MILWAUKEE MITT CARD

Milwaukee—(AP)—Two tournament favorites, Frankie O'Brien, Hartford, Conn., and Gorilla Jones, Akron, O., Negro, will headline the fight card arranged for the semifinals of the middleweight boxing tournament here on Nov. 19.

Oddone Piazza, champion of Italy, and Henry Firpo, Newcastle, Pa., are matched in the other half of the show.

The pairings were announced in Chicago by Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the National Boxing Association. The winner of the tourney will be crowned world's middleweight champion, succeeding Mickey Walker, retired.

CHICAGO WILL OPEN FIELDHOUSE DEC. 30

Chicago—(AP)—University of Chicago basketball team will play its first game in the new $700,000 fieldhouse Dec. 30 against Carleton college. The building will have as its opening attraction the second annual Christmas week interscholastic basketball tournament, which has replaced the national championship tournament of other years.

COUPLE FETED ON FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Clintonville Pair Are Honored at Surprise Party in Milwaukee

Special to Post-Crescent

Clintonville—The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Johannes of this city was celebrated Saturday evening at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Max Kujawski in Milwaukee. This was in the form of a surprise for the honored couple. They have one daughter, three sons, eight grandchildren and one great grandchild, all of whom were present for the occasion.

A dinner was served to the guests after which a program of music was presented. Those present included, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johannes and daughter, Ernestine of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johannes and son, Virgil of Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Johannes, sons Delbert and Kenneth of Clintonville; Mr. and Mrs. Max Kupawski and children, Virgil, Elton and Maxine, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schmidt and son Raymond of Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Johannes have been residents of this city for the past 21 years, coming here in 1910, from Manitowoc where they lived nine years. They were both born and raised in Two Rivers, Wis., where they were married, Nov. 12, 1881. After their marriage, they continued their residence there for 20 years. After moving to Clintonville, Mr. Johannes organized the Johannes Pickle Co. which he managed for a number of years. Since that time he has been engaged in selling real estate and is also caretaker of the Clintonville public library. Mr. and Mrs. Johannes are both very active and in good health.

Hundreds of visitors from out of the city attended the golden jubilee services at St. Rose Catholic church Sunday. The pontifical high mass was celebrated at 10 o'clock. Msgr. Peter J. Lochman of Kaukauna, first resident pastor of the local church and Bishop Paul P. Rhode of the Green Bay diocese took part in the services. A chicken dinner and supper was served in the K. C. hall to over 450, by ladies of the congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dix entertained a group of 18 boys and girls members of the latter's class in the Methodist Sunday school, Thursday evening at their home on Motor-st. A business meeting preceded the social hour during which games were played.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lemke, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Breed, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dix of this city were guests at a party Saturday evening at the Fred Breed, Jr., home in Embarrass. The occasion was in honor of the latter's birthday anniversary. Cards provided the evening's amusement. Other guests were present from Appleton, Northport and Chicago.

Mrs. Albert Abrahamson of this city submitted to an operation Monday morning at St. Agnes hospital in Fond du Lac.

Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. G. J. Huhn were, the Rev. John Huhn of Luxemberg, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Theis and family of Appleton; George Huhn and family of Watertown; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dunn and children of Antigo; Mr. and Mrs. B. Reiss and son of Lena; Mr. and Mrs. J. Flanagan and children of Bear Creek; Mrs. H. Kiernan of Green Bay; Mr. and Mrs. John Hayden of Milwaukee.

BOYS AND GIRLS ON ROTARIAN PROGRAM

Special to Post-Crescent

New London — Girls and boys from the New London public and parochial schools took part in the program given before the Rotary club Monday noon at Elwood hotel. The program was arranged by the Rev. A. W. Sneesby. Robert Knapstein contributed a recitation, while Margaret Hippler sang. A piano solo, presented by George Demming, Jr., was followed by a story told by Marshall Otis, Gordon Freeman's contribution was a reading of "Flanders Field."

Two boys, Melvin Block and Roland Rosenberg, gave brief talks regarding their wishes for Rotary activities for boys. That his wish to go into the country where he might breathe plenty of fresh air and learn to milk cows was the desire of the former, while Roland Rosenberg asserted that his wish was for a skating rink set apart from that used by older boys and girls where skating would be less dangerous for little boys. The program closed with a piano solo given by Abraham Nassar.

VARIED PROGRAM FOR CHURCH MEN'S CLUB

Special to Post-Crescent

New London —An interesting variety program has been arranged for the entertainment of those who will attend the intercity meeting of Lutheran Men's club at Emanuel Lutheran church Thursday evening. E. Gehrke, O. Fehrman and O. J. Hoh are assisting with the numbers, which will be featured by music contributed by the Hungry Five orchestra, led by George Feurst. The Rev. Walter Pankow will give a vocal solo. O. H. violinist, will play, and Milton Thiemer and Bernard Boese are arranging a short dramatic sketch. Two specialty numbers will be given by Fred Radtke on the violin, and the Rev. Immanuel Boettcher, who plays a saw. Group singing will be led by Emil Gehrke, and the evening will conclude with the serving of supper.

AID SOCIETY PLANS PAGEANT OF SHAWLS

Special to Post-Crescent

New London—In their preparation for the winter's activity the Congregational Ladies Aid society will present a dramatic offering called "A Pageant of Shawls," on Nov. 24. This piece, which will depict the shawls of all ages, will be given by 16 main characters in the auditorium of the church. A committee, which includes Mrs. J. W. Monsted, Sr., Mrs. E. C. Jost and Mrs. H. B Cristy, met Monday evening to prepare the cast of characters.

Plans also are going forward for the 75th anniversary jubilee in February in observation of the organization of the local Congregational church. A meeting was held Monday evening at the F. L. Zaug home to map out the tentative program.

FARMERS' DINNER MONDAY EVENING

Third Annual Event Sponsored by Rotarians to Be Held at Church

New London — The annual dinner for farmers, sponsored by the Rotary club, will be served next Monday evening. About 115 farmers already have made known their intention of attending this third annual dinner at the Congregational church parlors. The Congregational Ladies aid society will serve.

George Kerner is chairman of arrangements. An orchestra will provide music, and unusual features are being arranged as surprise bits on the program. It is expected that about 160 guests and members will be present.

HIGH SCHOOL ELEVEN MEETS SHAWANO NEXT

Special to Post-Crescent

New London — New London high school gridders meet Shawano high school at Shawano on Wednesday. Classes will convene earlier to allow the close of school, and a hard fought game is looked for. Shawano tied with Clintonville, and Clintonville was defeated in a close game earlier in the season at New London.

Arrangements are being made to enlist the interest of citizens so that members of the high school band will be able to attend the game. About 30 band members will provide music.

NEW LONDON SOCIETY

Special to Post-Crescent

New London — Miss Hildagard Abraham, daughter of Mrs. Theresa Abraham of this city, Saturday was married to Clarence Laack, Milwaukee, at Emanuel Lutheran church at 5 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Laack were entertained Sunday, leaving for Milwaukee Monday. They will be at home after Nov. 16, at 1813 S. 29th-st, Milwaukee. The bride received her education in New London grades and high school. She has for several years been employed in Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. John Morack were surprised Sunday evening at their farm home east of the city, the occasion being their 19th wedding anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Noal, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gial of Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Morack of Hortonville, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Delzer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Naparalla, Miss Alice Naparalla, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tesch, Ben Glasnap, Mr. and Mrs. Christ Peterson and daughter, Mrs. Stella Alderman, and George Krause. Five tables of schafkopf were played, prizes being taken by Miss Naparalla, Mrs. Noal, Mr. Glasnap and Mr. Peterson. Lunch provided by the guests was served later in the evening.

The public card party given as a benefit to the New London Community hospital will be held Thursday evening. Five hundred, bridge, schafkopf and skat will be played. Mrs. R. J. Small, general chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. F. J. Pfeifer, Mrs. F. J. Murphy, Mrs. P. J. Laux, Mrs Leonard Polaski, Mrs. Robert O'Brien and Mrs. R. L. Fitzgerald. Play will begin at 8 o'clock.

The Lutheran Men's club will sponsor a card party Wednesday evening, Nov. 18, at the church parlors. Five hundred and schafkopf will be played. At a similar party given last week prizes at cards were awarded to Mrs. Emil Gehrke, Mrs. Frank Jennings, Emil Gehrke and Mr. Jeronzes, Mrs. Fred Holmes, Mrs. Otto Froelich, Charles Learman and Otto Van Verst.

SHERWOOD RESIDENT IS OVERCOME BY GAS

Mrs. Margaret Koutnick Found on Kitchen Floor After Inhaling Fumes

Sherwood—Mrs. Margaret Koutnick of this place was overcome by coal gas from a furnace at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at her home. She was found lying on the kitchen floor by Mr. Koutnick when he returned from the postoffice. She revieved shortly afterward.

Anton Schilling received word last week of an accident in which his aunt Mrs. Carl Hammerschmidt of Sheboygan Falls had one of her hands badly mangled in a corn shredder.

The card party given by the Christian Mothers of Sacred Heart church Sunday evening at Strebes hall was well attended. Prize winners were: John Dietzen, Darboy; J. Puetz, Stockbridge; Joseph Rossmeier, Miss Elizabeth Brantmeier, Mrs. P. J. Miller, Mrs. Mary Maurer, Richard Daun, Miss Rose Daun, Miss Margaret Thelen and Raymond Kees.

The local sugar beet loading staff including, Nick and Matt Breit, Jack Schmidt, Anton Horn and Querin Weinreis report the loading of forty-three cars of beets in 13 days, breaking previous records. The dump is closed again for a few days due to the congestion of beets at Green Bay.

While Edward Kontnick was walking along the railroad tracks Sunday he discovered several wild rose bushes in bloom and picked a large bouquet. The flowers were smaller in size than the average.

Special to Post-Crescent

Manawa—Playing its first football schedule in six years, Manawa high school won its fourth straight game of the season here by defeating Marion high school 18 to 0. The Wolves are unbeaten this year, and the argument with Marion was the season's finale.

Manawa played its best game of the season against the northerners. With Lindow, Sheldon, and Fitzgerald in the backfield reeling off gain after gain, and with the line playing superb ball, Marion was completely outclassed. The visitors made only two first downs all afternoon and never had the ball past the middle of the field.

On the other hand, the Wolves pushed Fitzgerald over the line for two touchdowns, Lindow for one, and should have counted at least four more. On one occasion, Sheldon had a clear field ahead of him for a touchdown but stopped because he thought the referee's whistle had called back the play. A fumble on the one-yard line cost another score. The Wolves also had the ball inside their opponent's ten-yard line with first down as time ended both the first and second halves.

Henry Fahser and Arthur Patri of this place and Alfred Zienert of Shawano entered pleas of guilty to charges of forgery before Judge Byron B. Park in circuit court at Waupaca, and were sentenced to serve from 18 months to two years in the state reformatory at Green Bay. They were then placed on probation. The three youths are in the county jail at Waupaca awaiting the arrival of the probation officer.

Returning from a meeting of Luther Leaguers at Clintonville Thursday evening, the car owned and driven by H. A. Voss of Manawa ran into a cow straying along the roadside on Highway 22 near the Kasper cheese factory. The cow was uninjured but the car lost a bumper and sustained other damage. Arthur Scheiwe, Leonard Hahn, and Gerhardt Abraham were other occupants of the Voss car.

Billy Deckert, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Deckert of this place, was presented the Ralston Purina Hero Commission medal by the Rev. John S. Ellis at the Methodist Episcopal church here, Sunday evening, for saving Patty McPeak from drowning last summer. Short talks were also given by Mrs. John Seffern, J. T. Penn, and G. R. Lindsay.

STUDY PLANS FOR DRIVE FOR RELIEF FUNDS

Committee Decides to Start Campaign in Kaukauna at Once

Kaukauna—Committees, who will conduct the drive for funds for relief work here next winter met in the municipal building Monday evening. A decision to start the drive at once was made. A lengthy discussion of plans for the drive and the relief expenditures was held.

R. H. McCarty city poor commissioner, told of the difficulties he has experienced in distributing the city poor fund. He also described the efforts already made to relieve the unemployed in the city and the cooperation offered by contractors on local projects.

Mayor B. W. Fargo explained that very little to help the situation here has been done. He said Kaukauna has been rather fortunate in securing several projects to keep some of the unemployed busy. He said that the city should not attempt to put off relief work, but should start immediate action in accordance with surrounuding cities.

W. F. Ashe outlined the plan to be followed in Kaukauna. By the provision of this outline each employer will be asked to conduct the drive in his plant or business place. Each employee will be requested to donate 2 per cent of his monthly earnings for a period of about five months, the committee reserving the right to discontinue collections at any time if the drive nets enough to carry on the work.

According to Mr. Ashe's outline, the money would be loaned out without interest, to be paid back whenever possible. The return of money would create a permanent fund if the plan succeeds. Funds would be loaned to pay bills for necessities to be purchased at local business places where the owners had refused to extend the credit. Payment of bills with the relief loans would obligate the business man to extend credit as before, to all whose bills were paid, it was said.

A committee to distribute funds was appointed by the executive body. This committee is composed of Hugo Weifenbach, C. D. Howesly, and W. F. Ashe. All of the sub committee believed the committee should be increased to five and a request was acknowledged. The appointments will be made immediately.

Members of the executive committee are Arthur Schmalz, chairman; Lester J. Brenzel, W. P. Hagman, H. Wolff. W. O. Kittel, William T. Sullivan, and William Kumb Jr. Cards and final instructions were given to the committees before the group adjourned.

FUNERAL THURSDAY FOR HAROLD ALGER

Rev. John Schieb to Conduct Services at Home and at Church

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Harold Alger, 27, Kaukauna motorcycle officer, who was fatally shot about 11 o'clock Monday morning when his revolver accidentally discharged will be held at 1:30 Thursday afternoon at the home of his brother, Oscar, at 204 E. Eighth-st and at 2 o'clock at Immanuel Lutheran church. Rev. John Schelb will be in charge of the rites. Interment will be in Kelso cemetery.

Alger was replacing a battery in his motorcycle at the Nitingale ball room two miles northeast of Kaukauna on Highway 41 when the accident occurred. He was stooping over his motorcycle when his gun dropped from its holster, fell on the floor and discharged. The bullet entered his neck and passed out of his right shoulder. Dr. Albert Leigh stated after an examination of the wound that the bullet had severed several arteries.

Miss Margaret Gerrits was the first person to see Alger after the accident. He stumbled into the hall and fell to the floor. Due to the nature of the wound, he was unable to explain the accident and died shortly after the doctor arrived.

He is survived by three brothers, Oscar of Kaukauna, Jack of Milwaukee, and Gordon, whereabouts unknown.

No further inquest will be held. according to Stanley A. Staidl, district attorney.

DEPARTMENT CALLS ANOTHER HEARING ON EGG GRADING

Dissatisfaction With New Laws Prompts Second Conference on Statute

Madison— (AP)— Dissatisfaction with the recent regulations providing for the grading of eggs when offered for re-sale has induced the department of agriculture and markets to hold another hearing on the regulations. It has been called for Nov. 23 at the college of agriculture here.

Part of the dissatisfaction, it was said, results from the provision of the statutes that a dealer can purchase eggs from a farmer who does not want them graded and can offer them for re-sale, as an ungraded product.

On the other hand of a farmer wants his eggs graded and sold as such, for the increased prices they might bring the dealer, under the new regulations, has to follow his orders or refuse to buy from him.

The department said that some persons who were not in favor of the regulations, when they went into effect about a month ago have changed their minds and now think that a beneficial effect upon egg buying and increased returns to the producer will result. Others. the department said, have reported unfavorably because many merchants refused to purchase eggs under the new grades and have discontinued buying altogether.

"As time goes on. and with some corrections made in the order, the grading system will be pronounced successful by everyone," the department said.

That the large reddish bugs which have become a nuisance by entering homes and crawling about the premises throughout the state during the past few weeks, are harmless to human beings and are not a new and enlarged kind of bedbug as many fear, is the statement made by E. L. Chambers, state entomologist.

These insects, Mr. Chambers says are the box-elder bugs which drive their food from the sap which they suck from the foliage of box-elder, ash and certain other shade trees. In the fall the bugs begin to think about going into winter quarters. They also crawl over walls and porches and whenever possible, enter houses in pursuit of favorable protection.

Mr. Chambers said the bugs can be readily controlled by spraying with one of the contact sprays such as black leaf-40, or one of the pyrethrum sprays.

Lead and arsenic poisoning occur more frequently than any other forms of poisoning among the larger domestic animals, according to Dr. W. Wisnicky, state director of livestock sanitation.

Merely using lead pipes to conduct water which cattle drink will often have fatal results.

Old paints or paint buckets that contain lead should be kept out of reach of the cattle, Dr. Wisnicky said.

WHO'S NEW IN CONGRESS

John H. Bankhead

Jasper, Ala. —(AP)—Taking a seat in the United States senate is an experience almost like moving into the family homestead for Senator John H. Bankhead, democrat of Alabama.

Bankhead

The state has had a Bankhead in congress almost continuously since 1887 and when the new congress convenes Alabama for the second time will have a Bankhead in the senate and house at the same time.

Senator Bankhead's brother, William B. Bankhead, now is serving his eighth term in the house. The senator's father, John H. Bankhead. Sr, was elected to congress in 1887.

Later while the father was in the senate the son, William, was in the house

Senator Bankhead is known in Alabama as a "solid" man. He dresses, thinks and acts conservatively. He's not a colorful orator, but debates with ability.

For years he neglected political ambitions while he built up a large law practice here. He also operated coal mines.

In 1926 Bankhead sought a senate post, but was beaten. He defeated Thomas J. Heflin for the seat he will occupy after December.

Senator Bankhead was born in 1872. He was the father of three children.

He long has been interested in the disposition of Muscle Shoals and in inland waterways.

In his campaign he declared against turning the former project over to private interests.

WUSSOW HERD TOPS OTHERS IN CICERO TEST ASSOCIATION

Cows Have Average Production of 673 Lbs. Milk or 33.5 Lbs. Fat

The highest producing herd in the Cicero Herd Improvement association in October was one of registered and grade Guernseys owned by Charles Wussow, according to the monthly report of the tester. This herd produced an average of 673 pounds of milk or 33.5 pounds of butterfat for an average test of 4.9 per cent. The high cow for the month was owned by Emil Barth. This was a registered Jersey which produced 1,156 pounds of milk or 60 pounds of butterfat

A total of [illegible] cows in the association finished the month with an average production of 580 pounds of milk or 29.2 pounds of butterfat.

LADY with a PAST

BY HARRIET HENRY

SYNOPSIS: Suddenly left alone in Paris by the death of her mother, Venice Muir decides to make a drastic change in herself. Several seasons of unpopularity in New York have given her a keen desire to go back and prove herself a social success. She has been self-conscious at dances and tongue-tied at teas. Watching other girls, she has discovered that mystery holds a high allure for men. This knowledge aids her planning in Paris. She resolves to stay abroad for six months and return with a manufactured past. She will hint at her experiences, and her naturally reserved conversation will seem a curtain for mystery. She can pay back Ronald Wainright, who snubbed her, and surprise Drake Farrelly, who pitied her. The decision makes her happy, but she has yet to work out details of her campaign.

Chapter 18

THE START OF VENICE'S PAST

VENICE awakened the following morning to a benign day of warm, early summer sunshine and gentle, friendly air. Opening her eyes she knew that quick, excited feeling of something pleasant and unusual about to happen.

Of course. She was going to stay in Paris and launch herself, a gay and fascinating butterfly. After her petit dejeuner she wrote a letter to uncle Livingston and one to Aunt Laura telling them of her decision to stay abroad for several months. She put it down to the desire for a change of scene and faces. Later with the slipping of the envelopes into a mail box she felt as if an important step in her future was definitely taken.

This sense of something about to occur was all very well, but after a week of wandering about alone, not speaking to a soul except the matre clerk or two at the Bankers Trust, and waiters who served her at this cafe or that restaurant, her heart began to sink. She began to feel herself caught in a blind alley from which no opening led to the things she wanted to achieve. When she returned to New York she wanted to be able to talk casually about Pigalle's, Florence's, the Peroquet and the Florida, races at Longchamps and Auteuil, Count So-and-So and Lord This-and-That. But how could she?

Walking slowly along the Place de l'Opera one afternoon she mulled over these unhappy thoughts. She must shake them. Passing the Cafe de la Paix she sat down a bit wearily and half-heartedly ordered a champagne cocktail. She eyed the passing throng with forced interest. Here was life, movement, colour.

Venice began to absorb it all with genuine enjoyment and to forget the slow sense of unavoidable stagnation that was creeping over her.

Finally her gaze swept her companions at the neighboring tables. On her left an English couple quite evidently indulged in heated words over something that had occurred the previous night.

"My word," he exclaimed, "you are a nagger."

"That's better than being immoral," she snapped.

Venice's eyes meandered to the table at her right. A young man, shabbily but neatly dressed, vaguely debonair, a trim, little sandy moustache, brown eyes that twinkled and a wide humorous mouth. You felt that his clothes had been very expensive once, but it was a long time ago. There were handsome links in his frayed, blue cuffs. His glance met Venice's with unexpected directness and she felt herself blushing uncomfortably.

"Parlez vous francais?" he asked with such an unmistakably American accent that Venice smiled and answered, "No, not very well."

Without so much as a by-your-leave he slid over into the chair beside her.

"That's a relief. I'm tired of struggling with this appalling tongue."

"You're an American, aren't you?"

"Yes. And so are you. We can't disguise the twang, can we?"

"No."

"What are you drinking? You must have another with me."

"A champagne cocktail."

It all seemed quite natural and easy. Venice did not feel in the least embarrassed or nervous. He was a nice, every day fellow-countryman and she knew a tremendous relief in exchanging words with some one who was not later to receive a tip from her.

"Whoops, dearie, an expensive American!"

He laughed and hailing a waiter, ordered her a cocktail and a beer for himself.

"Are you on a holiday?" she asked?

"No I've been over here for several months. And now I'm too hard up to go home so I'm staying. I came over to take a position which they didn't hold for me. I haven't been able to get anything else."

He spoke cheerily. His dilemma didn't seem to matter much to him one way or another.

"Hard luck," said Venice. You couldn't feel sorry for him somehow.

"But Paris is a grand town. Who cares about being exiled in Paradise?"

"I love it too. There's something —well, you can't put your finger on it, but there's a fascination, an allure about Paris. It's like wine in your veins. Once you've caught the glow of it you're slightly intoxicated."

"Nicely put. You're a bright girl."

"Oh, no."

"Are you over on your own."

"Y-yes."

"What are you going to do with yourself?"

"Everything."

"That sounds sweeping and exciting. Another cocktail?"

"Are you going to have another beer?"

"Of course."

"The people passing. Couldn't you watch them forever?" Venice made a comprehensive gesture towards the street. They lapsed into silence watching the parade.

Venice looked at her wrist watch. "It's almost seven. I must go," she said.

"What for? You should never hurry in indolent Paris."

"It doesn't quite fit, does it? But I must."

"Garcon," he called. Then he turned towards her with a smile that lit up his entire face and positively charmed the cockles of the heart. "Look here, could you pay for this binge? And I had two beers at my table. I'm stony broke."

Venice laughed. You couldn't resent him.

"Is that why you spoke to me?"

"Primarily. But I'm glad I did anyway. You're a nice girl."

She handed him fifty francs. Suddenly she caught his arm.

"Wait a minute," she said excitedly. "Let's have another each. There's something I want to talk to you about." Her face was vivid with an unexpected idea.

U. S. BUREAUS UNDER FIRE IN ECONOMY DRIVE

Congressmen Receive Many Letters Urging Abolition of Commissions

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1931, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington—Members of congress are being flooded with letters in what appears to be a nation-wide attempt under the guise of economy to abolish many of the government bureaus and commissions that have been set up under the regulatory functions of the government.

While the Interstate Commerce commission and the federal trade commission are not mentioned, there is no doubt that efforts are being made to weaken both of these bodies by attacking the alleged wastefulness of government bureaucracy.

Many of the activities of the department of agriculture which have been fostered by the agricultural representatives in congress are being assailed as useless and one of the principal points of attack is that a part of the agricultural extension work which seeks to promote the increased consumption of cotton and other staples.

Most of the attack comes from big business and its organizations. Business has never taken kindly to the amounts spent by congress for agriculture and it is insisting that the government is "paternalistic" because it collects information for the farmers and broadcasts it in literature and by the radio.

Anti-Printing Drive

Another slogan is "less government in business" and an organization has been formed to crystallize opposition to an old source of discontent, namely the printing by the government of stamped envelopes which it is contended should be done by private printing concerns.

Actually the demand for economy is partly an answer to the hints from Washington that there will be a tax increase. And partly it is due to a belief that the civil functions of government are comprehensively wasteful of public funds.

The truth is that 73 per cent of the annual budget is spent for war debts, preparation for war and pensions and soldier bonus payments growing out of past wars. The entire amount of non-military expenditures, namely about 27 per cent of the government's funds, is slightly more than a billion dollars a year. This includes all administrative expenditures as well as the cost of public buildings, aids to agriculture and commerce, work done in the promotion of foreign and domestic commerce, and payment for the vast army of government clerks to carry on the correspondence of the government with its citizens and the dispatch of public business.

Outstanding Examples

When the president tries to cut down the naval expenditure he runs into a bitter attack from the Navy League. When he tried a year ago to persuade the veterans' organizations that soldier bonus payments should be kept down, the pressure from the veterans was so great upon congress that it passed the bill over his veto.

So now the civil establishment of the government is under fire. If its expenses were analyzed, a huge portion would be found to be required because of the dishonesty of a certain proportion of business men either in violating the laws relating to monopoly and unfair competition or in seeking to avoid income and other taxes.

The cost of prohibition enforcement is variously estimated but it probably will not run fifty millions, including direct and indirect expenses and money received from fines yet, the popular impression is that a billion could be saved if the Volsted act were repealed tomorrow.

There is no doubt that the drive will cause considerable restraint upon the spending proclivities of government officials and that the new budget will be trimmed more closely than ever before, but it is questionable whether the civil budget will be diminished materially. One of the sore spots in the civil administrative side is the second class mail controversy.

Subsidy Question

The government in effect has been granting a subsidy to business for many years on the ground that it aided in the promotion of national intelligence. But that same argument is used by the southern congressmen who want sums spent for the promotion of cotton uses and if the opposition to all government aid were to be taken literally it would mean the abolition of all government aids. So it resolves itself into a fight as to which benefits conferred by government are going to be retained and which ones are going to suffer because of the concerted attack of those who are fighting the alleged evils and extravagance of "bureaucracy."

The federal government budget of about four billions of dollars includes nearly three billion for past wars and preparation for future wars. This leaves about a billion, of which only about $200,000,000 is spent for general administrative functions, including the construction of government buildings.

Other Expenditures

The remaining sum, about $800,000,000, is spent for foreign relations, general law enforcement, control of currency and banking, administration of Indian affairs and public domain, regulation of commerce and industry, promotion and regulation of aerial, land and marine transportation, promotion and regulation of agriculture and fisheries, promotion of labor interests, immigration and naturalization, public health, science and research, roads, river and harbor improvements, District of Columbia and territorial governments.

Not included in the foregoing is the deficit of about $91,000,000 which the government pays for postoffice expenses not covered by receipts. So what the government gets and the people receive for $800,000,000 includs items which for generations have been federal expenses. The real increase has been in the enormous public debt and pensions and bonuses growing out of war. International cooperation looking toward reduction of future war expense through reduction of armament has been one of Mr. Hoover's principal preoccupations and his fight with the Navy League is typical of the resistance he is encountering in trying to cut the military expenses of government.

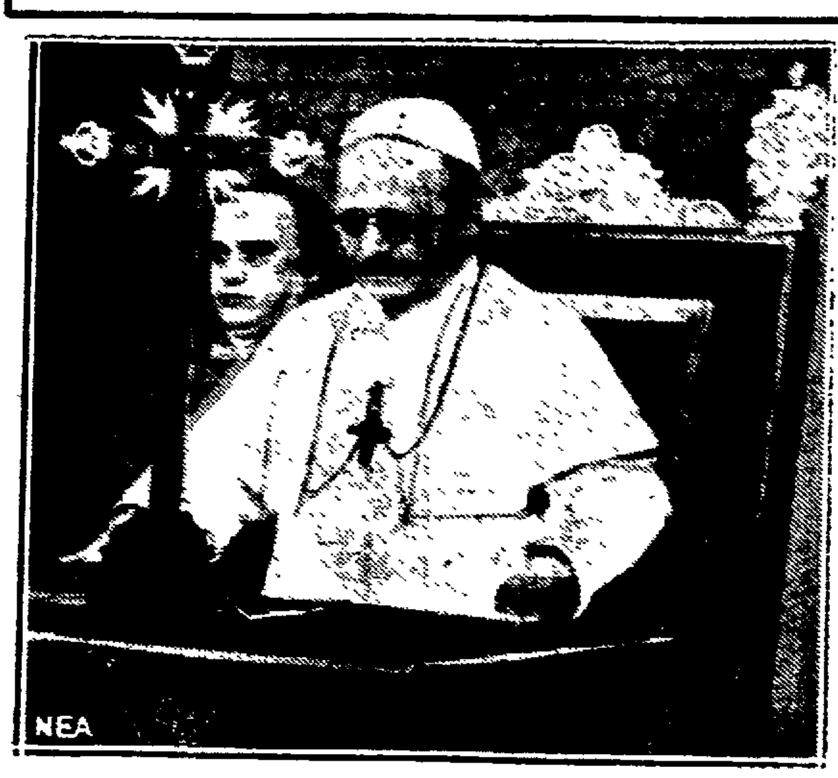
First Telephoto From Vatican



Another modern miracle has been introduced within the walls of the Vatican City. For the above portrait of Pope Pius XI was transmitted by wire directly from the Vatican, over an apparatus installed by Edoard Belin, French inventor. This picture, the first sent from the papal city by telephoto, was received in Paris. The photograph was taken as the Pope inspected the intricate device. A radio broadcasting station also was installed recently within the Vatican.

Dreiser Denies He's Guilty On Charge Of Misconduct

Pineville, Ky. — (AP) — With the last of Theodore Dreiser's committee of writers homeward bound after investigating conditions in the coal fields, the Bell-co grand jury today began probing a charge of misconduct against the group's leader.

The 60-year-old author of "The American Tragedy" who left here yesterday denied at Oristol, Va.-Tenn., the misconduct accusation and said it would be impossible for him to be guilty.

Circuit Judge D. C. Jones, in charging the Bell-co grand jury, said witnesses had sworn to a warrant charging Dreiser and a young woman had lived together openly at a hotel here. The warrant has not been served on the novelist.

Dreiser, in denying the allegation, said he enjoyed "the companionship of ladies" and was "fond of their conservation," but was not guilty of committing adultery "and the perjured evidence of Judge Jones jury would be powerless to prove otherwise."

Judge Jones also charged the grand jury to determine if acts of criminal syndicalism were committed at meetings of miners conducted by the Dreiser committee, and to return indictments if justified. He said if he had been governor he would have placed state troops on the border and never permitted the writers to enter Kentucky.

The last two members of Dreiser's committee were leaving the state today after visiting miners charged with murder in their cells at Mt. Sterling and Winchester. The writers, John Dos Passos and M. P. Levy, assured the defendants they would have full legal service for their trials.

New York—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York state's first lady, writing in the Pictorial Review says married people must expect to disagree. But she tells how to meet the situation in ten rules for a successful marriage. "Let neither husband nor wife strive to dominate," she sayes, and "talk things over, meet every situation in the open," she advises among other things.

BUSINESS MEN PLAN FARM DISCUSSIONS

Milwaukee—(AP)— Wisconsin business men interested in specialized problems of agriculture and industry will devote an afternoon to separate group meetings at the annual session of the State Chamber of Commerce here Nov. 17 and 18. The sectional meetings will take place Nov. 18.

Before one group Prof. B. H. Hibbard of the University of Wisconsin, department of economics, will lead a discussion of difficulties which beset agriculture. George W. Hull of Whitewater will be chairman of this group.

Dean John Freeman Pyle of the school of business administration and Louis S. McMeekin of the Boston store, Milwaukee, will direct discussion in a conference on aids to trade development. Arthur A. Berger, chairman of the trade promotion committee of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, will preside over this meeting.

William F. Eichfeld, president of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce, will be chairman of an industrial conference. Among speakers in this sectional meeting will be Karl S. Reynolds, first vice president of the State Chamber of Commerce, and Morton R. Hunter, chairman of the business stimulation committee of the Milwaukee Association of Commerce.

HELP! POLICE!

Denver, Colo.—"H m m, looks like my car," mused Patrolman James C. Van Horn as an automobile passed him. "By golly, it is!" he gasped excitedly a moment later as he saw the license number. Commandeering a passing auto, he started in pursuit. He forced his own car over to the curb and two 13-year-old boys slowly crawled out. They admitted taking the car from in front of Van Horn's home. Detention home authorities took them in charge.

Rummage Sale, Methodist Church, Thurs., 9 A. M.

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"

If November 11th is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 7:40 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:35 a. m., and from 2 p. m. to 3.40 p. m.

The planetary aspects are powerful on November 11th, and will promote very strong feelings and impulsive actions. Curb your tongue, guard your correspondence, and be careful to what you sign your name. Any dealings with those of the opposite sex should be entered into with caution.

Considerable determination is shown in the character of the child born on this November 11th. Outwardly it will be seen to be both reserved and intellectual; but at heart, it will be emotional and will be guided by its feelings rather than by reason. It will have a sweet and cheerful disposition.

If you were born on November 11th, the legacy of life should bring you much more than it has, because you expect too much from luck, and have never shown to the world your own true, unadulterated self value. You feel your own importance, and you want the world to accept you at your own economic value, without further proof of your true merit. What you lack is not luck, but the same word with the letter "p" in front of it. You are afraid to gamble with life, and you shrink from hardships. You are afraid to set up your own faith against the world's seeming indifference.

Your business assets are: one — an eye for details and also for the salient points in any undertaking—two—a convincing manner; three—considerable foresight. Your business weakneseses are: one—a lack of patience, you are apt to push things too fast for their logical development; two—too little confidence in the other fellow:

Your social assets are: one — a delightful sense of humor; two — the ability to listen as well as to talk; three—the ability to talk in an entertaining manner; four — an appreciation of sports and the ability to play games well.

You are slightly the victim of moods and it is hard for you to smile under adverse circumstances. Your nature is a sensitive one and you do not know how to bear the little cut-nitties of life.

Successful People Born on November 11th:

Freddie and his beloved came to a field where stood a ferocious looking bull.

"But, darling," she exclaimed, "you said you'd face death gladly for me."

"I know," he assured her, "but that bull's very much alive."—Answers.

FOREST MEMORIAL IS NEARING COMPLETION

The feasibility of financing the forest unit by individual and group subscriptions for the planting of trees was announced by Mrs. H. K. Curtis, president of the Milwaukee County Federation of Women's clubs which is sponsoring the planting in Wisconsin. A nation-wide program, planning a George Washington memorial unit in every National Forest has been undertaken by the American Tree association, aided by the U. S. Forest Service.

The City Beautiful committee of Green Bay has recently announced a 15-acre planting, Mrs. Curtis said, and many individuals have undertaken the planting of a memorial acre themselves. The cost of planting an acre is $2.50.

Site, seedlings and protection are furnished by the Forest Service, which will replace any trees that die or are destroyed by fire.

MONEY TO LOAN 39

WHY pay more than HOUSEHOLD'S low rate? . . .

The nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husband and wives at reasonable rates. Loans above $100 and up to $300 are made at a rate less than the usual small loan rate.

Strictly confidential. Husband and wife only need sign. No endorsers. Quick service, twenty months to repay.

Interest is paid by the month, and charge is made only for the actual number of days the money is in use. There are no fees.

nese general, Mah Chang Shan, and that China requested the league of nations to send an international army of 4,000 men to police the railway, pending a settlement. The first report was published in the Daily Telegraph and the latter in the Express.

Baron Kijuro Shidehara, Japanese foreign minister, forwarded to Washington his government's reply to Secretary of State Stimson's "aide memoire" on the Manchurian situation but stated he would not ask for publication of the documentary interchange between the two governments.

Field guns and machine guns boomed and crackled at Tientsin where a sanguinary clash occurred yesterday in an area between the Japanese reservists posted an alert guard, after demanding the withdrawal of the Chinese to a distance of 300 meters from the concession. The firing died down later, however, and quiet was restored though the situation was tense.

Prepare For Attack

Dispatches from Harbin said Japanese forces had withdrawn a few miles south of the Nonni river bridge but were assimilating reinforcements there and a new attack on General Mah Chang-Shan's army was expected.

The Tass agency at Moscow received a message from Khabarovsk, Siberia, telling of unconfirmed reports that a Japanese newspaper editor attached to the Japanese mission at Harbin, was urging "white" Russians to attack the Soviet Chinese Eastern railway, promising to aid the attack with money, arms and ammunition.

New York —(AP)— Employes at the Carnegie Steel company's Youngstown, Ohio, works have begun working on a basis which gives them eight days work each half month, instead of six days as heretofore. Increased operations at open-hearth and Bessemer plants account for the change.

The membership of Ralph Midwood in the rubber exchange of New York has been sold to Timothy P. Bresnan of Thompson and McKinnon, for $1,500, an increase of $100 over the previous sale.

Although several motor car plants are still closed down in preparation for new models, some of them are now reopening various departments and others will soon follow, Standard Statistics Company, says. November production, the survey says, should be greater than October and is expected to compare favorably with the 142,299 passenger cars, trucks and taxicabs built in November last year.

The American Smelting & Refining company today advanced the price of lead 10 points to 4.05 cents a pound. A similar rise was announced yesterday.

A New York cotton exchange membership was sold at auction today for $16,[illegible], a decrease of $1,000 from the previous transaction.

CHICAGO YARDS LEAD IN CATTLE KILLED

148,899 Head Slaughtered Last Month; Kansas City Is Second

Chicago —(AP)— Leading all the other killing centers by a wide margin Chicago stock yards reported 148,899 cattle slaughtered under federal inspection in October. This was double the number reported by Kansas City which had second largest volume. Throughout the United States the total was 781,453, against 835,972 in October, 1930, and for ten months the total was 66,000 short of the same period last year.

Fresh receipts today included only a limited supply of finished steers and these were held at the season's highest prices. Prime yearling beeves were quoted at $12.10, the $12.00 mark having been passed on both heavy and light steers on Monday for the first time on the present crop.

Steady prices were quoted for hogs at the outset of a slow market supplied with 35,000 hogs, 8,000 of which were billed direct to packers. Only 3,100 stale hogs were on hand, indicating a good clearance on the previous day and a clear deck for today's activities. Strong weight butchers had first call and were held at $5.10 and above while lighter ones moved at $4.95@5.00.

Packers had no direct consignments of lambs, the entire 18,000 arriving today being offered on the open market. Notwithstanding the general reduction of supplies, buyers were wary and avoided trading early.

Selling may have been hastened somewhat by fresh uncertainty over international affairs, as indicated by fresh sags in Japanese and German bonds. The bond market retreated, after advancing for eight consecutive sessions and wheat reacted substantially.

In shares, morning efforts to generate a rally in the railissues failed, and by early afternoon several issues were off 2 points or so, including U. S. Steel, Du Pont, Corn Products, General Goods, American Smelting, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck and others. Losses of a point or so were numerous. There were no signs of urgent selling, however, and the volume of trading shrank considerably. Rails gave up their morning gains, but held fairly steady. Radio was also firm, in response to its earnings statement.

Short Term Credits Expire

The fresh sag in the German bonds apparently reflected growing uneasiness over the lack of tangible developments looking toward a replacement of the standstill agreement of the $1,300,000,000 in German short term commercial credits which expires around March 1. Furthermore, banking quarters would like to see rapid progress in carrying out the suggestions of the Hoover-laval conference that Germany seek a replacement of the war debt moratorium within the bounds of the Young plan. Nevertheless, international banking quarters feel that satisfactory arrangements will eventually be made. They point out, however, that removal of current uncertainty is important.

Bankers with Japanese connections were inclined to regard the sag in Japanese bonds as resulting from ill-informed selling. They foresee likelihood that Japan will be forced off the gold standard, or become greatly involved financially through the Manchurian situation.

U. S. Steel's unfilled tonnage statement, showing the slight sag of about 25,000 tons in October, was about in keeping with expectations. Wall-st had expected a slight decline, as most of the improved sentiment in the industry has appeared since the turn of the month, and has not as yet been translated in actual orders to any extent.

An effort to rally the rails was apparently based on the interstate commerce commission's decision to start hearings in January on the four-party eastern consolidation plan, the Investment Bankers association's urging of a cut in railway wages, and hopes of tangible results from the rail executives conference here Friday.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

November —(AP)— London—Prices moved irregularly on the stock exchange today. Argentine rails and British industrials reacted on profit taking and the weakness in German issues was caused by anxiety over the financial situation in Germany. Good buying of sterling improved the dollar rate which closed at $3.82½ and Paris 97.37.

Paris—Trading was small on the Bourse and price movements were narrow and irregular. Rio Tintos improved with copper. The Bouse will remain closed tomorrow.

Berlin—Boerse closed.

GRAINS FALL AFTER RECENT HEAVY GAINS

Reaction Considered Past Due; Some Decreases 5 Cents a Bushel

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago —(AP)— Grains fell today like a spent skyrocket, and in some cases dropped as much as 5 cents a bushel compared with yesterday's top figures. The reaction, experienced trade observers said, was past due, and was largely a consequence of the extreme rapidity and extent of recent gains of 24½ cents for wheat and rye, with 16 cents upward flight for corn. Dealings today lacked the magnitude that has been the rule of late, though still beyond the average. Stock market weakness and moisture relief in domestic winter wheat territory contributed to augmented selling pressure and to curtailed buying.

More than 3 cents a bushel tumble in rye quotations did much to unsettle the entire grain list, although scarcely a dozen brokers were present in the rye pit, compared with hundreds in the wheat and corn crowds.

An air pocket developed on the buying side of rye, and with increased selling pressure by recent purchasers, the market gave way fast. More than 1½ cents, rebound, however, for rye quickly followed with an influx of new buying.

Oats, which have been duplicating the action of rye, underwent a sudden 3 cents smash when rye turned weak, but also rallied soon about 1½ cents. Execution of numerous stop loss selling orders was a feature of the oats trading.

Wheat and corn vibrated rapidly in about 1½ cents limits, with fresh onsets of buying in evidence, but only on declines. Confirmation of frosts in Argentina was a bullish incentive, but more or less nullified by uncertainty as to actual crop damage. Absence of North American wheat export business overnight gave an advantage at times to bears. Canadian reports emphasized drought, the severest on record.

Provisions reflected weakness on cereals.

CURB MARKET RISE FINALLY HALTED

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

Losses in some stocks which had had a sharp rally were fairly large but on the whole declines were moderate and it was apparently that the market was undergoing a normal technical readjustment after its recent rise. Volume was considerably below that of the past few weeks.

The setback in several specialties amounted to a point or so. Deere dipped a couple of points under fairly active realizing, while both Singer and Aluminum of America lost as much or more. Newmont Mining also was much many. There were narrow losses in a few motor shares, including Ford of Canada "A" and Ford Ltd. A. O. Smith advanced several points and Niles Bement Pond also worked against the trend.

Transactions in the utility group were in mostly slight concessions from the previous close, although Consolidated Gas of Baltimore and American Gas and Electric had larger than average declines. Electric Bond and Share edged down to around 21 where it was off fractionally. Niagara Hudson sagged under 9 and United Light "A" gave up much of yesterday's improvement.

Preliminary estimates of oil production mentioned an increase of more than 24,000 barrels for the past week. Petroleum issues were dull, although slightly lower. Humble lost a couple of points, putting that leader below 60.

A wheat crop of 240,000,000 bushels for the three Canadian provinces was indicated by the Northwest Grain Dealers association, compared with 376,000,000 bushels harvested last year. According to a Russian report the spring crop of grains in that country was 24,000,000 bushels less than last year. The trade was somewhat surprised by an increase of 1,037,000 bushels in the visible supply making the total 200,000,000 bushels against 190,000,000 bushels a year ago.

HOUSTON OIL COMPANY OF TEXAS

Five Year Record

The Houston Oil Company of Texas is extensively engaged in the production and distribution of natural gas and in the production and refining of oil. Through the 774 miles of pipe line of a subsidiary, the company serves a number of prosperous communities of the Southwest.

Its oil holdings are located in Kansas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas. It also owns extensive land and standing timber. The natural gas properties, cover an area about [illegible] square miles on which 140 wells are connected to the company's pipe lines. These wells have an estimated production of about four and three-fourth billion cubic feet daily.

The company has a gasoline cracking plant near Camden, Arkansas and other plants throughout the southwest region.

Net income, including that from the Houston Pipe Line Company, in 1930 amounted to $1,635,337. This compared with $1,731,469 in 1929.

Funded debt totals $11,694,000. Capital stock outstanding includes $5,417,000 in 6 per cent cumulative preferred of $25 par value and $27,455,100 in common of $25 per value.

The preferred stock has equal voting rights, share for share with the common. Dividends are being paid at the required rate on the preferred. None is being paid on the common.

As of January 1, 1931 total current assets were $5,334,317, current liabilities were $1,062,165, and net working capital was $4,270,159. Book value applicable to the common stock amounted to $32.13 a share.

GAMBLERS IN CASINOS HIT BY DEPRESSION

Operators Seek Moratorium on Taxes to Prevent Bankruptcy

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS

Paris—The high price of gambling will have to come down to meet the new economic conditions or else some of the famous French casinos will have to close. According to all reports, it is simply a question of another moratorium to relieve the oppressed for the good of all concerned.

Heavy taxation and hard times have been scoring to an alarming degree against the gambling houses, and the runs on the bank have not been those that make fortunes for players. Too much is going out and too little coming in.

It is estimated that gross receipts this season will be from 20 to 40 per cent less than in normal times. "Business is terrible," is the lament, and all the other interests of the resorts, such as restaurants and luxury amusements, suffer proportionately.

In the meantime the taxation where the total annual play is more than 15,000,000 francs amounts to 75 per cent, 65 of which goes to the government and 10 to the municipality in which the casino is situated.

"The irony of it all is that we have had an increase of 12 per cent in attendance," says Andree, the casino king of Deauville. "And there has been no change in the class of our clientele. People this year simply will not spend.

"When everything was rosy they drank champagne and cocktails frequently. Now they get along for hours on mineral water. Fried potatoes are more popular than lobsters.

"The gambling fever is also tempered with prudence. Even in moments where excitement runs high fervent players place their bets in hundreds and not in thousands of francs. They appear as if they have been unable to leave their business worries at home. They do not relax and play with the old spirit, and their private troubles are being visited on us."

Wails From Riviera

Similar wails come from Le Touquet, Biarritz and resorts along the Riviera. It is one of the worst seasons since the war.

There is some relief in sight from the government, however. Pressed by appeals, both private and political, the Laval cabinet is sponsoring a measure for a reduction in taxation of 25 per cent as a maximum, gauged according to the volume of business. The Chamber of Deputies does not meet until November, but if the reduction is passed by Parliament it will be retroactive to the middle of August.

This is almost a certainty which takes of the form of a moratorium.

It is to the interest of the government that these casinos are saved from bankruptcy because of the revenue that is quite an item in the budget. The resorts depend on the casinos to a great extent for their attraction and gaity. Customers come to play and spend their money in the resorts, which represent a very considerable capital investment. Naturally everybody wants to get along for the well being of everybody else, which makes the moratorium idea popular. Less financial strain and more business is the appeal.

Cook Up Stories

Press agents along the Riviera have cooked up stories about hypnotists operating in the baccarat rooms of the casinos and astrologers fortelling the turn of play. The hypnotists watch the play and then throw the old thought waves across the table to an accomplice who is playing. The hypnotist gag has worked with phenomenal success, according to the stories. The astrologers have been looking at the stars for tips and have had so many customers that palmists, mind-readers and mediums have been getting into operation and some of their subjects have gone back to the tables, according to the reports and piled up heavy wins.

This movement, the stories go, is due to superstition that has arisen within men and women with the hard times. It is probably due more to the falling off of receipts and the suspicion, not the superstition, that some lively propaganda work has got to be done. For even the annual stories of fantastic cleanups by more or less well known actresses don't get over this year because the average play has not been high enough.

Jews Honor Him

The American Hebrew medal, awarded annually to the Christian most outstanding in promoting good will between Jew and Christian in America, has been awarded to Archbishop Edward J. Hanna, above head of the Catholic church in California. His efforts in sponsoring and participating in a Jewish seminar and his numerous addresses advocating better understanding between the two groups were responsible for the award.

High School Principal Records Work Schedule

From planning a student vocational guidance program to interviewing numerous salesmen, the daily routine of a high school principal reveals a varied existence, according to a recent study made by Herbert H. Helble, principal of Appleton high school. Mr. Helble kept a daily record of his work schedule for a period of 18 weeks, the results of which were published in the November issue of the School Executives magazine.

The average principal's working day was found to be 10 hours and 35 minutes, more than eight hours of which were put in between 7:30 in the morning until 5 o'clock in the afternoon. During the semester period of study, the report shows that 136 hours were given to school work by Mr. Helble after 5 o'clock, which averages one hour and 55 minutes every day. Out of 90 days, the principal devoted 37 nights to attending school functions and activities.

"In practice", Mr. Helble states, "a disproportionately large amount of time is given to high school administration at the expense of supervision and instruction".

Figures gathered by Mr. Helble show that approximately 15 to 18 per cent of the semester's working hours were given to supervision, while 60 per cent went to administration. He further states that although this may not be an ideal arrangement of time distribution, it is the actual record of busy high school administrators in typical large senior high schools.

In a typical working day schedule, minutely kept by Mr. Helble, it is shown that one hour and 35 minutes was devoted to supervision with four hours and 15 minutes to conferences.

Nearly 50 per cent of a principal's time is devoted to conference activity, according to Mr. Helble. A careful computation during the semester shows that 987 separate conferences were held, ranging from two minutes to three hours each. Of these, 234 were individual guidance conferences with each graduating senior relative to his future plans. These conferences include discussions with teachers on guidance, disciplinary, educational policies and problems; with parents on enrollment, student failure, guidance, employment and health problems; with pupils on guidance, discipline, scholarship and extra-curricular problems; with supply agents, superintendents on reports and policies, the board of education, the janitors on cleaning matters and the alumni group.

STUDENTS HEAR ABOUT TRIP THROUGH GERMANY

Miss Olga Achtenhagen, assistant professor of English at Lawrence college, who last summer spent some time in the Schwarzwald in Germany, told Lawrence students of some of her experiences and some of the impressions which she received on her travels at convocation of the student body Monday morning.

The faith of the German peasant, simple and spontaneous believing in a God who is stern but righteous, exacting but just, was explained by Miss Achtenhagen.

The DEAD MONTHS that follow FIRE

FIRES in stores, factories and other commercial buildings are followed by dead months. Trade stops—customers go elsewhere for goods—expenses pile up while the building is being replaced or repaired. It is sound business to insure a continuance of your normal profit—and dividends—during the non-earning period following a fire.

The insurance that gives this guarantee is called Business Interruption (Use and Occupancy) insurance. Ask your Stock Fire Insurance agent to explain it.

STOCK FIRE INSURANCE

provides and supports many services that reduce the probability of either direct or indirect fire losses, but as long as destruction continues there will be suspended business activities. You should provide this kind of protection.
